Lancaster Farming

Serving The Central and Southeastern Pennsylvania Areas - Also Maryland, New Jersey and Delaware

VOL. 24 No. 14 | Lancaster Farming, Saturday, February 3, 1979 | $6.00 Per Year

Penrose Hallowell says so far he has found his job generally interesting and pleasant. He wants to look at the tasks ahead from a farmer's point of view.

Hallowell introdues himself

EDITOR'S NOTE — Penrose Hallowell, nominee for the top job within the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, recently introduced himself to the Agriculture and Rural Affairs Committee of the State Senate. What follows are his remarks before that group.

I am a 12th-generation farmer and my ties and feelings for the land are deep. But I also understand and believe that agriculture, in a broader sense, is an important industry to Pennsylvania's economy, its environment and its people...on the farm, in the towns and in the cities.

State government, particularly the State Department of Agriculture, has a major responsibility to promote, encourage and support agriculture and its related industries.

I am honored to have the opportunity to serve the state in Gov.

Pork extravaganzas slated

By DIETER KRIEG

KENNETT SQUARE — A unique swine facility will be unveiled here in two weeks (Feb. 17), just a day after the Pennsylvania Pork Producers Council presents its much talked about Keystone Pork Congress in Hershey. The two events are expected to attract considerable interest from hog producers throughout Pennsylvania, as well as several other states.

The Keystone Pork Congress, which is to be held at the Hershey Motor Lodge, will feature former USDA Secretary Earl Butz, National Pork Queen Tammy Moerer, and presentations by various specialists. A computer swine program and an evening banquet are also on the agenda. In addition, there will be special presentations for the ladies. Anyone interested in attending the event is asked to contact A.K. Fisher, Box 98A, RD 1, Kinzer, Pa. 17535. Pre-registration forms cannot be accepted after Feb. 9.

High beef prices to continue

By KENDACE BORRY

LANCASTER — The highest prices for cattle for the year 1979 have not yet been seen. That's the opinion of William McCoy, president of the Lancaster Stockyards, Lancaster, assuming a normal flow of slaughter cattle to the market, and granting that government studies recently relaeased are accurate.

"I think that the high will come in the second half of the year, barring government intervention." he stated.

"Right now, we're seeing the highest prices we've ever seen," he continued, "and they could get higher. It's a real aggressive market, with all time highs for both feeder and fat cattle."

He noted that he thought it was important for the farmer to produce an animal readily saleable on today's market, with a yield grade of three or less, grading high good or choice.

"There is a tendency of some farmers to sit tight with cattle that really ought to go to market," he explained. "They see what the market is now, and maybe

Chris Herr, Narvon, was awarded a perpetual calendar by Earl Sauder, Inc., New Holland for having the County's champion market lamb. Sarah Brubaker, Lancaster, was the recipient of a silver bread tray from Wenger's Mill, Rheems. Sarah was credited for having the reserve County champion market lamb and the champion Hampshire junior ewe at the Pa. Farm Show. Another award she received was for being named the County's champion beef showman.

ASCS participation urged

By KENDACE BORRY

HERSHEY — "It is imperative that farmers sign up and participate in the 1979 farm programs," stated Stewart N. Smith, associate administrator of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, "if they want to continue to make the gains in farm prices and market stability as they did in 1978."

The man was speaking at a news conference held in Hershey. He was in the area to address a group of agriculture department officials from 13 northeast area states.

He claimed that the grain reserve program has had to be working. There is no other way that the U.S. could have had a 7.1 billion bushel corn crop without having the market falling. Instead the market rose. And the wheat market rose also.

But, he added, we cannot go on, continuing to produce corn and wheat for the reserve program.

The feed grain program provisions were announced on November 11, he noted, and they included a ten per cent set-aside and a 10 per

Red Rose 4-H'ers honored

By JOAN LIESAU

LANCASTER — Members from Lancaster County's 4-H Red Rose Beef and Sheep Club gathered Thursday night for a gala occasion which signified the termination of a fruitful year for its members.

With mixed emotions from Tracy Groff, the banquet featured beef from Bruiser, a 1165 pound Simmental-Angus cross bred steer calf that Tracy showed at the Lancaster County Baby Roundy-up this past November. Tracy, the daughter of James and Linda Groff, Quarryville R2, sold her steer the following day at a sale sponsored by the Lancaster Livestock Exchange. National Central Bank was the top bidder. They also donated the steer back to the club. Stonebridge Farm Butcher Shop, John Brubaker of Mount Joy R3, processed the meat which was served to several hundred people that evening.

Several, members were cited for their outstanding achievements over the last year at the County Round-up and Farm Show, Darlene

At Pennfield, we formulate feeds and feeding programs with your profit in mind.

"All feed companies are alike"

If you believe that statement, you could be missing an opportunity to increase your output of eggs, pork or milk—without increasing your costs.

At Pennfield, our basic goal is to help our customers make more money. We believe we can accomplish this for you, too. For these reasons:

- Customized feeding programs. We specifically tailor a program to your operation, not to an "operation like yours."
- Nutritionally-superior feeds. We go a step beyond many conventional feeds. Our feeds have Optimum Nutrient Density (most profitable nutrient level per pound of feed) and contain high-quality protein for balanced amino acid nutrition.
- Quality in, quality out. We chemically analyze all incoming feed grains for pesticide residues and toxins... and all finished feeds for overall quality and nutrient content.
- Technical service. We're responsive to your needs—by phone or on your farm.
- A local company. We buy our feed grains locally; shipping savings are passed on to customers. Our feeding programs are developed based on local conditions. We do test work and field trials based on local conditions.

These and other Pennfield advantages are helping hundreds of new customers increase their profits. We can do the same for you. But you must take the first step by phoning or writing us. Do it today.

LIFE on the farm

By Dieter Krieg

One extremely hard jolt, which could have damaged the tractor and broken my bones, was enough to send me straight to the gun counter of a nearby store

I considered myself very fortunate in not having been thrown off the tractor when the front end dropped into a groundhog hole, popped back out, and then bounced along for the next several yards I had hung on for dear life The experience had caught me off guard and it positively amounted to the last straw

With revenge brewing in my mind, I wanted nothing more than to fill some fat groundhog with bullets I was determined to hunt down every groundhog on the farm.

Not knowing anything at all about firearms and ammunition, I inspected several models, finally deciding on a 22 calibre rifle A couple of boxes of bullets completed the purchase

This being the first time that I had ever handled such a weapon, I was a little nervous about what might happen when I pulled the trigger It didn't seem too bad Before long, I had bullets piercing tin cans and boards If those groundhogs knew what was good for them, they'd dig their way to China and never come back It was a satisfying thought

It was a day or two later before I ventured across the fields with gun in hand The sun's warmth had dried the top layer of recently plowed ground and my steps kicked up just a bit of dust as I walked along It was a beautiful, warm day in early Spring The birds were singing and there wasn't a cloud in the sky Groundhogs weren't easily spotted on the light-brown soil, however

But I found one He was poking around outside his home Not moving much at all, he made an easy target

I raised my gun and got that fat rascal centered in the sights I watched him as he stood on his hind legs and looked curiously in my direction I continued to size him up and that furry creature just stood there all the while I knew he was paying attention to me, but he didn't seem at all worried Maybe he was a friendly sort of a groundhog. He certainly didn't look like the type who would deliberately harm anything

I kept him in my sights

Finally, I swung my rifle off to the side, aimed for a distant rock, and pulled the trigger Mr Groundhog scrambled into his underground chambers and Mr. Chicken walked back to the house.

I guess if I ever wanted to display a "hunting trophy," it would have to be the jagged remains of a bullet-punctured tin can. With a set of paper antlers it would look really sharp

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

International Uniform Sunday School Lessons

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

PLAY IT!

Lesson for February 4, 1979

Background Scripture:
John 3:16,17; 17:14-26;
James 1:22-27;
1 Peter 3:8-16.

Devotional Reading:
Ephesians 2:1-10.

A friend called today and she was in tears. The reason: her boss, who recently "discovered Christ," she said, had stopped by her house to tell her that her religious life and beliefs were all wrong. He even went so far as to suggest that she was unwittingly being "used as a tool of Satan." Although she had not observed that "finding the Lord" had markedly affected the way he conducted his business, her boss did seem to take great satisfaction in his new role as one of God's zealous defenders.

Rendition, Not Defense

I suspect that her boss' role is self-appointed rather than the result of a divine calling. My reason is simply that I do not believe God often calls us to be his defenders. To presume to defend God carries a certain air of blasphamous arrogance. The Bible does not indicate that God is in need of defense. Servants, yes. Witnesses, yes. Worshippers, yes. But seldom, if ever, defenders.

I recall those marvelous words of Harry Emerson Fosdick:

We defend religion too much. Vital religion, like good music, needs no defense but rendition. A wrangling controversy in support of religion is precisely as if the members of an orchestra should beat folks over the head with their violins to prove that music is beautiful. But such procedure is no way to prove that music is beautiful. Play it.

One can read pages of commentary on beautiful music, but there is no substitute for hearing it rendered. If music had to rely on argument, it would not affect us very much. The only thing to do with music is to "Play it"!

Doing, Not Hearing

That's the way James looked at the gospel: "...be doers of the word, and not hearers only, deceiving yourselves" (James 1:22). People in his day, as now, were concerned to follow the "pure and undefiled" spiritual path. Well, if that's your concern, said James, you won't find it in words:

Religion that is pure and undefiled before God and the Father is this: to visit orphans and widows in their affliction, and to keep oneself unstained from the world. (1:27).

Before taking leave of the disciples, Jesus prayed to God, asking, "Sanctify them in the truth" (John 17:17). But the "truth" of which Jesus prayed was not a truth to be argued, but demonstrated in their lives as it has been in his: " ... that the love with which thou hast loved me may be in them, and I in them" (17:26).

If you have "the truth" the call of God is still what it has always been: PLAY IT!

NOW IS THE TIME

TO CONTROL DOGS

Owners of dogs should be aware of the possible damage that can be done when they start running on the property of others. Pennsylvania's Dog Laws hold the owner responsible for damage done.

Also, dogs are not permitted to run wild over the countryside. I'm aware of the damage that dogs can do to sheep and to poultry flocks Reports indicate that dogs have entered private chicken houses and killed birds

Also, sheep producers are always fearful of stray dogs chasing and killing their sheep. We urge all dog owners to keep them on their own property. If they get on other farms or premises, then both the dog and the owner could be in big trouble.

TO TRANSFER SILAGE

At the recent Cattle Feeder's Day, Dr. John Baylor, agronomy specialist from Penn State, told the group that any silage to be moved from a temporary storage to an upright storage, should be done in cold weather. When moved in warm weather (over 40 degrees) there will be more danger of heating and molding. Make the transfer in cold weather and do it as rapidly as possible. No additives or preservatives should be needed in this process Many producers will transfer the silage in order to utilitze their mechanical feeding equipment

TO USE BEDDING MATERIALS

The price of straw, hay, and corn fodder is much less than a year ago. A quick look at straw prices this time last year shows an average price of $140.00 per ton; at the moment straw is selling around $70.00 per ton. Corn fodder last Spring was bringing around $75.00 per ton, and at this time is worth about $50.00 per ton.

This is quite a change in prices and makes bedding materials more in line with other farm prices. I don't know of many livestock or dairy producers that bought large amounts last spring. The livestock existed without bedding. This Winter is different and we hope that more producers will use more bedding. "Well bedded is half fed" is an old saying among Scotchmen that like to see livestock comfortable.

TO EVALUATE HOMESTEAD DRAINAGE

The recent heavy rains provided a good chance to observe the water drainage problems around many barns and farmsteads. If the surface water got into farm buildings, or into homes, then something should be done about it in the next few months. Surface water should be turned away from buildings by way of terraces or diversion ditches

Water should not be permitted to come down against any building from upgrade. This will weaken the structure and wash soil away from the foundation. Water that seeps into a building from underground is a different problem and more difficult to control.

However, the surface water can be directed around and away from farm buildings. Also, the area around wells should be protected from surface water. Water feedlots and barnyards should not be allowed to flow directly into public streams; pasture areas or holding areas will prevent pollution possibilities.

AGWAY

AGWAY DAIRY AND BEEF FEEDS NOW CONTAIN SELENIUM

Effective January 29, Agway began adding selenium to all of its dairy and beef feeds. This followed the U.S. Food and Drug Administration's January 26 clearance of selenium for such products.

Selenium is added as sodium selenite, which is the most biologically available form of supplemental selenium, according to Dr. John W. Peters, Agway animal nutritionist.

The nutritional value of selenium has recently been established. Some of the more commonly observed symptoms of selenium deficiency are white muscle disease, liver necrosis and sudden death. In dairy cattle, the lack of selenium has further been associated with a higher-than normal incidence of retained placenta, Dr. Peters said.

"With the addition of selenium to all Agway dairy and beef feeds, the problem of selenium deficiency — actual or marginal — has been greatly reduced," Dr. Peters said.

See your Agway dairy enterprise serviceperson or your local Agway Store or Representative for dairy & livestock feeds and feeding programs.

CATTLE - Compared with previous week's close--midweek prices on slaughter steers ranged 1.50-2.50 higher, and heifers were 2.00-2.50 higher, limited late trading was weak however, under a cautious demand. Cows were 1.00-1.50 higher and bulls firm.

The upward spiral in fed cattle prices continued at an accelerated pace during the week under review. Marketings were of modest proportions and slaughter under federal inspection was also somewhat below normal. Most interests were in need of cattle for immediate requirements and the sharp upturn in live prices was partially supported by an advancing carcass trade. An additional bullish factor was added by the latest "Livestock Inventory". The overall finish was reasonably attractive with a fair percentage Choice and a modest volume Choice and Prime, although many carried considerable mud; yield grade and mud were major price determing factors Steers made up approximately 40 pct and heifers 35 pct. Cows comprised 13 pct and feeders 11 pct.

The meeting, which is sponsored by pea and lima growers on the peninsula plus the Maryland and Delaware cooperative Extension services, will start at 1 p.m. and run until 4 p.m.

According to Extension vegetable specialist Dr. Michael Orzolek, the program will include a report on the performance of new varieties, a review of fertility and spacing research with limas, a review of the Maryland/Delaware nematode survey, a presentation on the direction the USDA lima bean breeding program is taking, and a discussion of the problem of blemished beans.

Red Rose 4-H'ers

Huyard, Lancaster, received two awards for having shown the County champion steer. The fifth year 4-H'er was presented a color photograph from J. C. Snavely & Sons. The photograph was of Darlene holding Sergeant, her pure bred Angus steer. Sperry New Holland Company presented her with a wrist watch. Darlene is the daughter of Naomi Huyard, Lancaster and Melvin Huyard of Leola.

Collecting awards for having the county's reserve champion steer was 12 year old Michelle Dean of Strasburg. Michelle received a 4-H Club jacket from Farm Credit Association. State Farm Show, Grand Champion Steer owner, Steve Long, of Peachbottom, was awarded and electric clock from Hess Mills, Paradise.

Max Smith, Lancaster County agricultural agent, who was presenting the awards, also recognized Steve's brother Sam. Sam showed Moose the 1210 pound Angus-Chianina steer at the Farm Show. Mr. and Mrs. Samuel F. Long are the parents of these two young men.

Several Red Rose beef club leaders, after realizing what type of steer the Indiana judge was looking for, put together the grand champion beef trio at the Pa. Farm Show. Owners of the three animals were Bonnie Frey of Refton, Steve Long and Ed Nissley of Manheim. Pennfield Corporation awarded the three youth 4-H pen sets.

The highest daily gain in the County went to Christine Greiner of Mount Joy. Her steer gained 3.16 pounds per day. Cope and Weaver Company, New Providence awarded Christine a 4-H pen set.

Having the steer with the second highest daily gain was Kent Henry of Strasburg. His Carl Herr bred steer gained 3.10 pounds per day. Kent was also presented a pen set by Cope and Weaver Company.

Second year 4-H member Brian Hess of Conestoga was named the top County beef showman at the Pa. Farm Show. Grubb Supply Company of Elizabethtown presented Brian with a trophy.

Taking home several awards that evening was Sarah Brubaker, Lancaster. The seven year 4-H member won a silver bowl trophy for being County champion beef showman. The award was presented by Grubb Supply Company, Elizabethtown. Sarah was also the winner of the coveted Intelligencer Journal steer. Sarah the daughter of Clyde and Dorothy Brubaker forfieted the prize steer because she and her family will be moving out of the County.

Sarah also won a silver bread tray for showing the reserve County champion lamb, and the junior champion Hampshire ewe at the Farm Show. Wenger's Mill, Romme presented the award.

Christian Herr of Narvon R2 was the owner of the County champion market lamb. His Dorset lamb won him a perpetual calendar presented by Earl Sauder Inc. of New Holland.

Also that evening, members of the junior and senior livestock judging teams presented Max Smith and Gary Dean of Strasburg gift certificates for their coaching throughout the year.

Smith and 13 other club leaders of the 80 member beef and sheep club were also thanked. The Club presented them gift certificates to Willow Valley Restaurant. Willow Valley had bought the County champion steer at the Clubs sale from Darlene Huyard last November.

A "Farewell to Grads" ceremony was presented for the 13 members who were either graduating from the

they decide to just add another hundred pounds to the cattle they have rather than pay the high price for the replacement feeder cattle."

"But even though we're short of beef supplies in general, the farmer should be aware of the danger of the possibility of an oversupply of prime meat. The most popular weight to sell at is between 1100 and 1200 pounds."

He told that the situation presently seen, with an undersupply of cattle available, is a normal part of the cattle cycle.

"The cows and calves were culled when they weren't profitable to raise, a few years ago," he related. "Now the ranchers are holding the female calves for replacement. It's going to take three to four years for the herds to build up, and then the market will swing the other way, with prices dropping, and supplies high."

McCoy noted that he thought that there was little for the consumer to be optomistic about.

"It will probably get worse before it gets better," he commented

According to him, there are several factors which could influence the market and prices.

"There is always the possibility of government control," he stated. "Whatever is done, it problably won't work, but it will be a popular move with the consumer."

He noted that statistics show that there has been a five per cent drop in the cattle inventory in the past year, which was the fourth consecutive year that the number of cattle has been down

"Without the government control in prices, the problem will correct itself in time," McCoy stressed. "It's really just a part of the natural cycle, enhanced by inflation."

Talking about the possibility of beef imports, McCoy thought that there just weren't too many sizable amounts of beef to be imported, "and those that are, are competitive with our prices," he noted.

The slaughterer and the retailer up to the past two years had a relatively large supply of beef, he reasoned. He told that at that time it really hadn't been profitable for the farmers to raise cattle.

"But now the cow-calf operator is in the driver's seat," he explained. "Now he is the one that's making money."

One of the questions that looms in the future to be answered is whether consumers will or will not pay the high price for quality meats, he thought. He compared it to the cost of gasoline, which a few years ago, took a sudden high jump in price.

"Did everyone use less gas?" he questioned "They may have said they were going to but in the end, they just paid the higher price."

As for the farmer who wants to replace his fat cattle, the feeder cattle today are bringing "unheard of prices"

He thought that the other meat markets were also strengthened by the high price the beef are bringing, stating that there is a larger supply of hogs, and he feels that the cattle prices are bolstering that market The same holds true for lamb and mutton, and poultry.

"But people just don't seem to have a preference for other types of meat, they way they do for beef," he concluded "Beef you can eat every day of the week and still not grow tired of it."

Dr. Clifton Baile and Abe Fisher, both of whom are instrumental in the construction of a unique feeder pig production unit at New Bolton Center, invited insterested pork producers to their Open House, Feb. 17.

may be interested in is the Open House of a brand new swine breeding unit that is being completed at New Bolton Center, a veterinary research center of the University of Pennsylvania that's located northeast of Kennett Square along Route 926. The public is invited to attend.

The unique facility will be used to produce feeder pigs for a private owners, but might also be used for research. The first gilts are expected to arrive here shortly after the Open House. Meanwhile, other construction will continue. In all, the facility incorporates a breeding and gestation house, a farrowing house, a nursery, and a slurry manure system which will allow flush water to be recycled. Penn-Jersey Harvestore of New Holland is cooperating on the latter project.

The breeding and gestation building has 396 pens for bred gilts and sows, as well as additional pens for animals which are to be mated. In all, the unit will incorporate 480 sows and gilts.

The research-production unit will be managed by Joe Strittmatter, who was formerly swine herdsman at Michigan State University. He is a Cambria County, Pa. native and a graduate of Penn State University.

The farrowing house is divided up into four rooms, with 20 farrowing crates in each. The nursery has a capacity for 1200 pigs.

We'll have more details on both the upcoming Keystone Pork Congress, and the pig production unit in next week's edition.

ASCS participation urged

cent additional land diversion for corn and sorghum and a 20 per cent set-aside for barley.

He thought that the feed grain program could present a problem for state and county ASC people. He said that it appears that "we are not offering farmers as good a program, as good a deal as we did last year because the corn acreage diversion payment is not as high–10 cents a bushel instead of 20 cents." He added that critics of the program say that there is less incentive to participate this year than last and that the program is inadequate.

He told his audience that there were several points that the critics overlooked

"One is that since the target price has been increased to $2.20 per bushel for corn, the farmer who fully complies with the program will be guaranteed exactly the same total price as last year--$2.30 per bushel. The diversion payment went down 10 cents a bushel and the target went up 10 cents."

Another thing he mentioned was that there is no restriction on the number of acres to be planted under the additional diversion option as there was the previous year.

And this year "we are offering the opportunity to take part in a supply management program, a total package."

In high production years, the excess wheat can be moved off the market into the reserve program, he explained, so prices are not depressed. This is what happened last year, farmers placed more than a billion bushels of wheat and feed grains into the grain reserve. Thus in a year of "shortfall", market commitments, both those domestic and foreign, can be met by moving grain out of that reserve when the market price is right. The reserve is not government grain, it is not owned by CCC. It is farmer-owned, farmer-controlled grain. And that, he said, is the way it is wanted.

But, he continued, there is danger in this.

"Grain producers cannot rely solely upon the reserve program, and I am afraid maybe they are beginning to do that. The reserve program was slow to start, and many people believed it would not work–but it did. It was successful. There is just no way that we could have had the corn crop that we did, without the market price falling. Instead it rose. The same with wheat."

"But," he continued, "we cannot continue producing corn and wheat for a reserve program. Farmers must use the set-aside and diversion programs to begin balancing supply with demand so that the market will pay a reasonably profitable price. It is important that farmers understand that."

Smith thought that if the nationwide participation was near 50 per cent, and a normal weather situation holds throughout 1979, stocks of corn should be reduced by somewhere near 300 million bushels.

But if farmers don't participate, he warned, the acreage will not be reduced, and there could be an increase of ending stocks even though there is a record-high usage.

Farmers, he stated, must learn that they can't look at the program simply in terms of immediate cash in their pockets. The long range effects of their decisions must be weighed.

Smith told that nationwide the participation for the program is now around 41 per cent. In the state of Pennsylvania, there is about 20 per cent participation.

The purpose for the meeting where Smith spoke was to review the 1979 farm programs and finalize plans for conducting the nationwide sign up for 1979 set-aside programs. These will begin February 15 and end April 16.

The sign-up period is the time designated for farmers to file their intentions to participate in the 1979 set-aside program with the county ASCS office. Farmers must sign up to be eligible for price support loans and target price and disaster payments for barley, corn, grain sorghum and wheat on participating farms and on other normal crop acreage grown on the farm.

Quality standards still concern j

By DIETER KRIEG

HARRISBURG — Is the farmer getting the fertilizer nutrients he pays for?

People in the industry say they are.

But the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture says it isn't necessarily so and it has sampling results which the Department claims proves their case.

Ironically, the fertilizer people have test results - supervised and performed by the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture - which they claim gives credibility to their side of the story as well. According to supervised sampling of dry bulk-blended fertilizers at a fertilizer plant, and subsequent tests thereof at both a private and state laboratory, indications are that an analysis may indicate a shortage of fertilizer ingredients even though the formula was indeed correct when it was blended. Industry spokesmen say that the experiment offered profound credibility to their claim that the quality tests don't tell the whole story. They point to the fact that the fertilizers in question were formulated and mixed properly, with the completed blend adding up to what is supposedly guaranteed, but that tests may still show deficiencies.

Those conclusions were drawn as a result of a Fertilizer Quality Workshop that was held in mid-December of last year at a fertilizer plant near Mill Hall in Clinton County.

Official tests by the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture serve a need and purpose, the fertilizer people agree. But they have also blemished their business with misunderstandings and allegedly false accusations, they protest.

While some official tests have caused embarrassment and cuts in profits for some bulk blenders, it has caused the majority of fertilizer dealers to feel unjustifiably burned. The result has been something of a battle to gain not only higher standards for the industry, but a better understanding between farmers, agribusinesses dealing with fertilizer, and the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture.

While most of the confrontations and discussions have concerned the Agriculture Department and the fertilizer people, the farmer-user is anything but a pawn in the case. Spokesmen for both the industry and the Department of Agriculture say that farmers should definitely be getting their money's worth when they're buying fertilizer. There are different interpretations to that, however, and that in itself causes some of the misunderstanding.

In order to polish their image and perhaps improve their record for delivering the proper blends of fertilizer, some 40 bulk blend fertilizer dealers attended the Fertilizer Quality Workshop last December. The day-long affair was organized by PennAg Industries Association, an organization of some 400 Pennsylvania agribusinesses. Cooperating in the eduacational program were The Fertilizer Institute (TFI) of Washington, D.C., The Tennessee Valley Authority (TVA), and the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture.

Technicians from the Agriculture Department were on hand to demonstrate proper fertilizer sampling techniques. Several samples were taken and the results have since been distributed to participants. The figures show that even under the closely supervised conditions at the workshop, deficiencies were not avoided. On the other hand, in some cases one or two fertilizer ingredients came out on the plus side.

In the first sample, taken as blended fertilizer was discharged from a conveyor belt, the analysis was to have been 31-10-10. It turned out to be 29.26, 9.67, 10.72. In a second sampling of the same product after it was loaded onto a fertilizer spreader, the results showed an analysis of 28.14, 10.08, 10.47. In the latter test, a "D-tube" was inserted down through the coned heap of fertilizer.

All samples were taken by a trained employee of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture. Each sample was split, with the second portion going to Ed Huber, chief chemist of Agrico Chemical Company of Baltimore. Huber had taken part in the educational program and ran the tests for comparisons. His respective results for the aforementioned samples were: 30.38, 9.85, 10.00; and 29.55, 10.10, 10.31.

Ed Huber of Agrico, Baltimore, holds up samples of screened fertilizer ingredients which demonstrate how segregation may cause problems.

still concern fertilizer dealers

Agrico, Baltimore, holds up samples of screened fertilizer h demonstrate how segregation may cause problems.

In a second batch of 31-10-10 that was sampled as it was discharged from the conveyor belt, the Agriculture Department came up with an analysis of 31.39, 10.79, and 7.80. Huber pegged his laboratory figures at 32.14, 11.04, and 7.48.

The next test involved the same fertilizer, (second batch of 31-10-10) but this time it had been loaded on a hopper that had moved back and forth during the loading process to insure a more uniform distribution of the product. This time the PDA came up with 30.46, 9.47 and 10.21 figures with its analysis, compared to Huber's 31.08, 9.69, and 9.79.

The importance of proper sampling procedures - a point which was strongly emphasized at the workshop - is illustrated by results of the next test. The sample had merely been scooped out of the spreader by hand. It involved the very same fertilizer that had been used in the previous two procedures. The analysis: 27.93, 6.78, 15.68.

The split sample presented to Agrico tested 27.44, 7.00, 15.36.

Next on the agenda was the formulation of an 8-24-8 blended fertilizer that was to be bagged. With workshop participants looking on as the ingredients were scooped up, weighed, mixed, bagged, and finally sampled, the chemist's verdict came up 7.60, 23.97, 7.12. Agrico reported 7.63, 23.42, 6.85 on that sample.

The fertilizer people find it significant that of the 18 supervised samples taken at the Mill Hall workshop, eight were found deficient. Yet, according to calculated weights, and analyses of individual ingredients, all of the fertilizers were in compliance with minimum standards. Many exceeded those standards. Nevertheless, in one example, the deficiency found in a 4-ton blend would have meant a fine of $457.60, which amounts to 66 per cent of the value of the product, claimed PennAg spokesman Donald Parke.

Tests conducted as a result of the workshop revealed chemical composition of the products as well as other properties such as particle size. The latter is considered to be very important in assuring uniform quality in dry bulk blended fertilizers. Variations in particle size are a notorious cause of product separation and may lead to a possible shortage of an ingredient in qualitative analyses.

The procedures demonstrated at Mill Hall were designed to impress and educate fertilizer dealers of the importance of quality control as well as product and company integrity. A number of presentations were given. The sampling results serve as the final chapter of that workshop.

Looking at those test results, some fertilizer spokesmen say the results show that exact specifications can't be easily met even under closely supervised procedures. There's a different point of view at the Agriculture Department, however. The claim there is that if 'x' number of fertilizer blenders can comply with quality standards, then all should be able to.

Spokesmen for the industry say that variations are bound to occur due to differences in handling equipment, differences in particle sizes, and a lack of uniform standards for the industry.

Donald Parke, executive secretary of PennAg Industries Association, says that the results of the sampling done at the Mill Hall, Pa. workshop substantiates earlier industry claims.

He says: "There were people witnessing the fact that the ingredients were there in the mix and the results of the samples analyzed by two laboratories indicate that one-third of the samples analyzed were deficient enough to incur a penalty. Our very subjective and personal opinion is that neither the equipment commonly in use nor the raw materals which are purchased, nor the inspection equipment and methods used nor the laboratory techniques employed are sophisticated enough to support an inspection system with such tight standards. The question comes down to economics. Just how important is establishing tolerances to the one-one-hundredth of a per cent just to meet an inspection standard?" he asks. "Experts agree," Parke continues, "that this

Farmers tax guide now available

THE FARMER'S TAX GUIDE, 1979 edition, is ready for distribution. An annual publication of the Internal Revenue Service, it is usually made available in December. But this year, because of the late date of the signing of a new tax law, November 7, revisions had to be made and printing delayed well beyond the usual schedule.

The Farmer's Tax Guide is designed to explain how the tax laws apply to farming situations. Examples and illustrations show how different items should be reported on the 1978 income tax return. Samples of records illustrate how good records help in the preparation of an accurate tax return.

County agents are urging farmers this time of the year to evaluate their record systems. If they are not doing what they should, this is the time to change. The Extension Service has helpful information on record systems.

But this might also be the time to switch to a computerized system or take advantage of the services of an accountant familiar with farming operations. They are in a position to keep up with the many changes in the tax laws.

The computerized accounting services available to you are not just electronically operated systems. They are designed and updated by experienced specialists that keep abreast of new techniques and the provisions of the latest tax laws.

The current Tax Guide has a section devoted to new developments in the tax law that may affect your farming business. It would be well to check these over. There are a number of favorable items for farmers says Calvin G. Wettstein, senior county agent in Hunterdon County, New Jersey.

Still another helpful section is the calendar of important dates. Deadlines are listed for a variety of reports, and a tax calendar included for depositing taxes on agricultural labor.

The Farmer's Tax Guide is available in most banks, including the many branches, several farm supply stores and the feed mills, and Extension Service offices.

Hallowell calls for optimism in new state govt.

By JOYCE BUPP
Staff Correspondent

YORK - "Pennsylvania agriculture should be optimistic about our new state government," is the message being relayed by Penrose Hallowell, state Secretary of Agriculture appointee.

Hallowell made his first official appearance at York's Agri-Business seminar, held January 25 by the Chamber of Commerce and the agriculture Extension service. About 140 farmers and agri-business people turned out to hear the Bucks County dairyman, who with his son, operates an 80-head registered Holstein milking herd.

"We who are serving the people should spend half as much time talking and twice as much time listening," he remarked, adding that one of his reasons for attending the York conference was to hear farmer viewpoints. "While Governor Thornburg doesn't know too much about agriculture, he is interested in it"

Improvement of the state's economy, Hallowell said, is the administration's major objective, and agriculture is viewed as an important segment of that economy.

He feels that the state's Department of Agriculture, in spite of a lower budget than other departments, can best help farmers through marketing, ag land preservation, research, animal health and striving to build a better understanding of the interdependent relationship between producers and consumers.

The Secretary admitted that, to date, very little has been accomplished in the area of land preservation because there has been no united front on the issue whatever action is finally taken must meet several qualifications. It will have to be of benefit to all areas of society, as well as pass the test of voters if development rights purchase funds must be raised.

Hallowell also advocates improving government rules and regulations to make them more applicable and understandable. Zoning regulations must allow farmers to continue normal production operations and estate taxes must be revised and reduced.

But, the best preservation of agriculture in the Commonwealth is simply for farmers to make a profit

"If we expect to preserve the farm, we must first preserve the farmer," he emphasized "Higher prices would do that best. Farmers can currently make more money selling the land than producing on it."

The Penn State graduate and former head of the state's Farm and Home Administration also feels a pressing need for better understanding between farmers and non-farm consumers.

"We need to understand the interdependence of rural and urban needs and establish an alliance between the two," he added, noting that the average American worker earns enough to pay his weekly food costs by 2 p m on Monday By comparison, Europeans spend 30 to 40 per cent, Soviets pay 50 to 60 per cent and underdeveloped countries as high as 90 per cent of their total incomes on feeding their families.

Questioned by one listener about the future of the Farm Show complex, Hallowell said he viewed the establishment as a public relations device for Pennsylvania, and hopes to see it continue and grow.

When you shortchange their nutrition, you shortchange yourself.

Looking for ways to cut on down on out-of-pocket feed costs without cutting down on milk production?

Cutting production costs will backfire if you end up shortchanging your herd's nutrition in the process.

But you can cut those costs safely by feeding homegrown grains and grain silage fortified with the right Vigortone Dairy Pre-Mix. These potent pre-mixes contain the proper levels of vitamins, calcium, phosphorus, and other minerals needed to balance your farm's feedstuffs.

Vigortone Dairy Pre-Mixes can be mixed in or metered on any palatable grain or roughage. This lets you change ration content to fit the supplies you have on hand without risking herd performance.

Better herd nutrition means a bigger milk check. Minimum out-of-pocket feed costs mean more in your pocket.

Your figures will prove it.

Dry cow nutrition pays future profits.

Shortchanging your dry cow's nutrition can be risky too. Most problems dairymen experience in getting cows back in the string can be traced to careless treatment during the dry period.

Keep them in top condition until their next lactation. To help you do it, Vigortone has developed unique dairy pre-mixes specially concentrated for dry cow rations.

Now is the time to compare.

See your Vigortone dealer soon. He's ready to compare the performance of Vigortone's cost-saving dairy feeding programs with any other you name.

Henry Hackman honored for conservation

By KENDACE BORRY

EPHRATA — "In the year 1954, out of the realm of things to come, three entities came to gather–a cause, an electonic device, and a person. The cause was conservation, the electronic devise was a camera, and the person was Henry H. Hackman."

Thus began the program of the special recognition dinner held on Monday night by the Lancaster County Conservation District to honor one of its own.

Narrated by Amos Funk, Millersville, the "This is your life" presentation told of the accomplishments of the Lancaster County man, from the time when Hackman first started to use conservation practices on his farm, long before the idea became popular, to his many projects, honors, and awards which he has received for his work.

They told of his many slide presentations, given in the name of conservation, where he has shown and told of the good done by the practices of saving the soil.

He was one of the founders of the Conestoga Valley Association, which was responsible for the restoration of the Conestoga River. He has also served as president, director, administrator, and consultant of the Lancaster County Soil Conservation District. He has been the president of the state association of conservation districts, the first president of that organization to serve two terms.

And it was during those terms that the national plowing contest came to Hershey. No small eastern state had ever hosted the contest before.

His many awards include being named the Pennsylvania oustanding conservationist, winning the Lancaster County Commissioner's award for outstanding service, receiving a citation by the Pa. House of Representatives for promoting wise use of natural resources, being honored as the recipient of Elizabethtown College's humanities award, and earning the Earl Rebman award from the Conestoga Valley Association, just to name a few.

For this and much more, the Lancaster County Conservation District took the time to honor both Hackman and his wife, to show their appreciation for his efforts.

Mrs. Hackman was presented with flowers and a nature poetry album.

Aaron Stauffer, on behalf of the conservation district, presented a plaque to Henry Hackman, given "in appreciation for his 27 years of service to the Lancaster Conservation District.

Close to 50 people attended the dinner.

Flanked on the left by Aaron Stauffer, and on the right by Amos Funk, Henry H. Hackman, Manheim, receives his plaque of appreciation, given for service to the Lancaster County Conservation District.

Lebanon County couple attends no-till conference in Hawaii

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Werner of Lebanon County had several of Hawaii's agricultural and tourist attractions pointed out to them by one of the islands' hostesses, left.

FREDERICKSBURG - Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Werner from Lebanon County, were among more than 100 farm couples who attended a national farm business and no-tillage conference in Honolulu, Hawaii, last month sponsored by World Wide Farm Forums.

The conference focused on methods of no-tillage farming and included tours of no-tillage plots planted especially for the conference so that farmers could view no-till crops at the growing stage. In addition, the group toured selected livestock farms accompanied by University of Hawaii Extension authorities, and attended special "shirt sleeve" seminars on farm management techniques, goal setting and agri-estate planning.

The conference included a flight to the garden isle of Kauai, where the farm group toured the no-tillage plots.

Mr. and Mrs. Werner say that the high temperatures during the day were in the 70s for the entire week. Just prior to departure, at the end of the week-long conference, the group toured Pearl Harbor and several more of Hawaii's scenic sights.

The conference received such a reception from farm couples that World Wide Farm Forums—which is affiliated with Farm Wife News, No-Till Farmers and Farm/Ranch Living magazines – has now scheduled a similar conference in Honolulu for January of 1980. If any farm couples from this area are interested in attending next year's conference, the Werners say that they will be glad to provide information and an evaluation of the Hawaii conference they just attended.

Greider heads forest fire crew

LANCASTER - At the January meeting of The Board of Directors, of The Lancaster Forest Fire Crew, Kenneth Greider of Conestoga R2, took office as president of the all-volunteer rural fire service.

Also elected to office for the 1979 term were William Esbenshade of Centerville, who will serve as vice president and recording secretary, and Brian Manley of Columbia, who has been elected treasurer. Manley takes the place of retiring board member Robert V. Ingram of Lancaster, who served as treasurer for many years. Stephen Cummings, of Highville, was elected corresponding secretary.

The Lancaster Forest Fire Crew is a research and training operation, in addition to being a volunteer fire company, with emphasis on control and prevention of wildfire, and resource protection. The crew is based at The Fort Holbrook Fire Base in Manor Township, near the villages of Highville and Safe Harbor.

FFA members are required to keep records on a crop or animal, a job or skills learned in school. The student maintains a record book for the entire calendar year, making entries for receipts and expenses, listing hours of labor and approved practices, and noting progress made. At the end of the year all projects are analyzed to determine how good a job the student has done on that particular project and why. Standard analysis factors such as bushels of corn per acre, pounds of milk per cow, number of dozen eggs per hen per year, etc. are used. Finally record books are scored within each County by the vocational agriculture teachers. Books are scored for income, level of efficiency attained, completeness, accuracy and neatness. Project record books provide students with a means of learning by doing. As agribusinessmen or farmers, FFA members will need to keep these kinds of records to operate efficiently and for tax purposes.

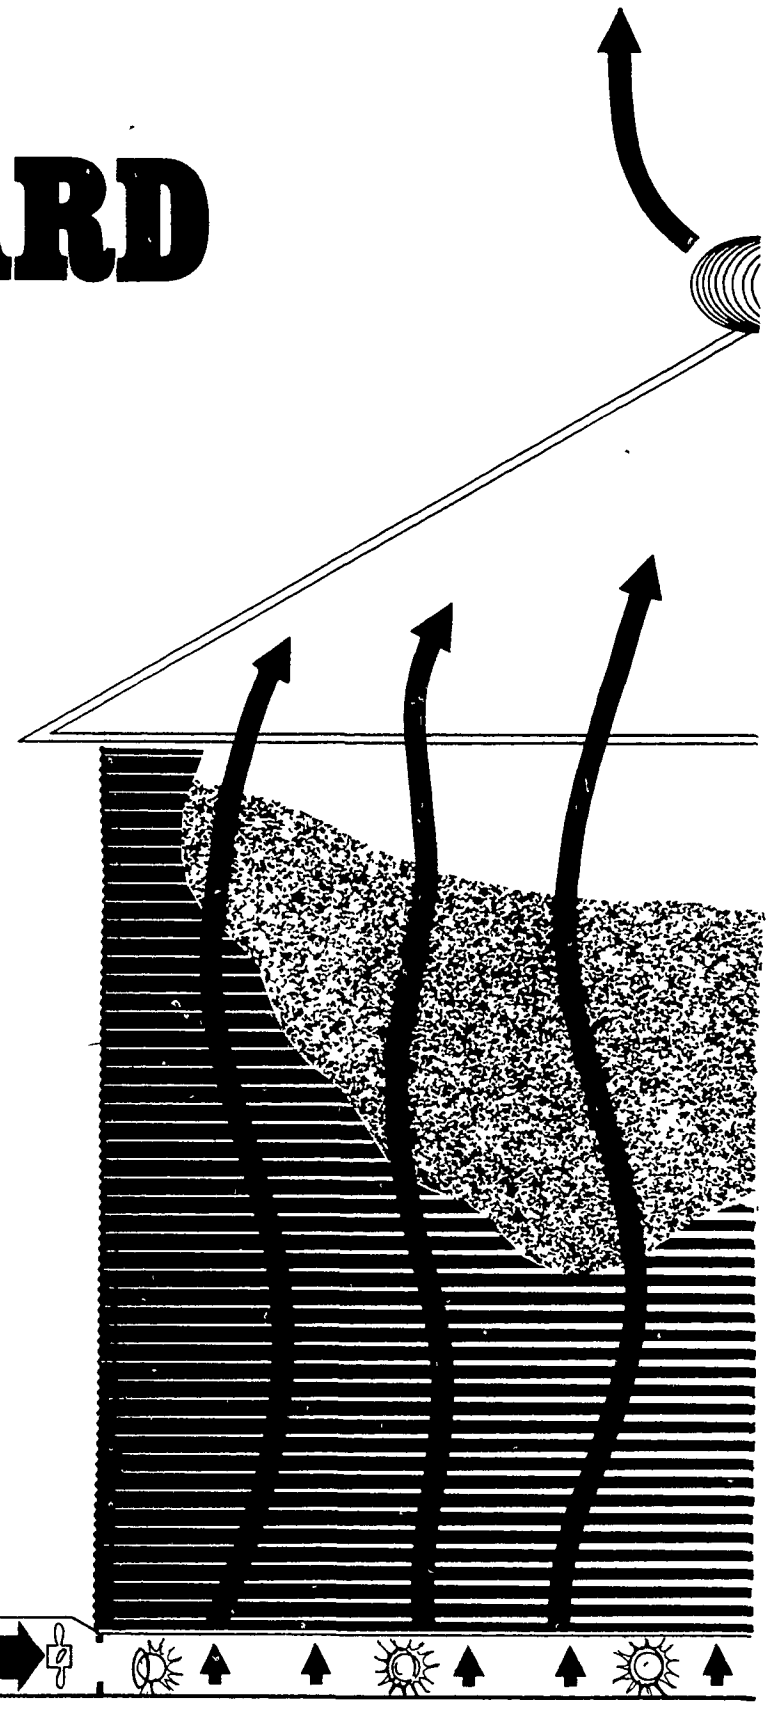
YOU'VE HEARD THE TALK.

There's a better way to dry grain. It's called CHILLCURING™ because it means CURING without heat. Here's what the talk is all about.



THE GRAIN

Every kernel of grain is alive when it comes out of the field. It is a seed, able to grow because it has the ability to take on moisture. Likewise, it can be kept in a state of preservation by removing the moisture already in it.

But by heating the grain to dry it, the seed life is destroyed.

By removing heat and moisture from the grain, it becomes dormant, and stays alive Then it can ripen to full weight, losing only water while keeping valuable protein, starches and sugar.

THE SYSTEM

It's simple. Grain goes from the field right to the bin. With the unique AIRFRAME™ and AIRFLOOR™ the grain rests on a solid bed that allows maximum ventilation.

Clean dry air is the best curing medium for the grain. GRAINLAMPS™ provide electric sunshine, cleaning and drying the air beneath the floor, before it passes through the grain.

Fans force air under the floor. Rising through the grain, this dry outside air carries away moisture and heat.

At the peak of the bin a jumbo 40" turbine, the WHIRLCOOLER™, puts nature to work for you. Wind and rising air keeps it turning, venting the system naturally.

A special HARVESTAT™ Control System monitors the curing process A simple setting controls the GRAINLAMPS™ to make use of free, natural air.

THE FACTS

1. You can't beat Nature. HARVESTALL GRAIN CHILLCURING™ uses the same elements that ripen and preserve grain if left to itself: free flowing air and infra red rays (sunshine).
2. CHILLCURING™ has been tried and proven in 17 states on over 3000 farms. The research is in: CHILLCURING™ WORKS!
3. The CHILLCURING™ system uses only the electricity to power fans and lights, using about 1½ KW hrs. per bushel. Compare that cost to other systems that use increasingly expensive fuels to get disappointing results.
4. The grain goes from the field to the bin and stays there till you need it. Save time and money at harvest with the one step HARVESTALL CHILLCURING™ and storage system.
5. If you're in the market for grain storage, you owe it to yourself to look further into HARVESTALL GRAIN CHILLCURING™.

Md. Ag Week to be Feb. 4-10

ANNAPOLIS, Md. — Harry Hughes, Governor of the state of Maryland, has declared February 4 to 10 as Maryland Agriculture Week.

He stated several reasons for the proclamation.

In an official release, naming the event, he told that agriculture in Maryland is "an outstandingly productive enterprise producing in 1978 bountiful crops of grain, vegetables, poultry, dairy products and many other commodities reaching a gross farm income value of $800 million."

Maryland agriculture, he noted, is a vital part of the nation's agriculture which keeps Americans the best fed people on earth at the lowest food budget demands of any nation thus contributing "mightily to the high standard of living".

Agriculture in Maryland, he continued, is a major consumer of goods and services of others, creating thousands of off-farm jobs and millions in paychecks for the economic betterment of the entire state He added that Maryland agriculture typifies free enterprise of the highest order which benefits so many in so many ways.

For those reasons, he designated Agriculture Week and urged the citizens of the state to recognize the contributions of agriculture to the state, nation, and world.

Soybean spokesman urges support for trade agreement

PIKESVILLE, Md. - "If you've never written your Congressman before, now is a good time to get in gear."

This was the charge to some 125 persons attending the first Western Shore soybean meeting held Jan. 16 in the Hilton Inn, here, just 15 miles from grain export ship-loading facilities for the Port of Baltimore.

The advice came from Jack Duvall, director of public affairs for the National Soybean Processors Association, headquartered in Washington, D.C. Duvall led off the afternoon program session, speaking on "The Soybean Situation."

He was one of nine speakers at an all-day farmer education event sponsored by the Cooperative Extension Service and agronomy department at the University of Maryland in College Park, along with 12 interested agribusiness organizations.

Duvall explained that Congress is being asked to approve this Spring a multilateral trade pact, known as the Tokyo round of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT), with the nations of the European Economic Community (EEC).

If approved by all participants, the GATT package would make foreign government subsidies on exports more difficult. This would be advantageous to U.S. farmers. But the nation's textile and steel manufacturers are strongly opposed.

Congress is on the spot to act first on this proposal, and the EEC nations are waiting to see what will happen. Most of the action will be in the House of Representatives.

Should Congress fail to approve the GATT package, a wave of protectionism is likely to occur among the U.S. and EEC nations. This would be detrimental to U.S. agriculture, Duvall declared.

Otherwise, the trade association spokesman sees the over-all soybean situation in the U.S. this year as good. Positive economic factors include the following:

--the long-predicted recession in the U.S. appears likely to be delayed beyond 1979. This will sustain consumer demand.

--livestock numbers will continue to expand.

--there is strong processor demand.

--current strength of foreign currencies against the U.S. dollar.

--improved trade relations with the People's Republic of China.

Grange supports U.S. trade pact

WASHINGTON, D.C. - The Executive Committee of the National Grange, meeting here last week at Grange headquarters, expressed support of the multilateral trade agreements negotiated under the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT). The Committee also supports an extension of the waiver on the collection of countervailing duties on imports that have benefited from export subsidies from the European Community.

Woodrow W. Tucker, committee chairman and past Master of the Rhode Island State Grange, said, "The Grange will work for enactment of the trade agreement even though it falls short of Grange objectives." He said, "The longterm gains in international trading rules far outweigh any shortcomings and it will be many years before the U.S. has a similar opportunity to improve international trading rules."

In domestic matters, the Grange is encouraging Secretary of Agriculture, Bob Bergland, to use his authority to improve the prospects of net farm income in 1979. John W. Scott, Master of the National Grange, said that with grain reserves at capacity and storage bins full, measures must be taken to insure that supply management works in 1979.

Scott said, "The building of the grain reserve during 1978 absorbed the shock of a record corn crop." He said, "We don't have that flexibility in 1979, therefore, other measures are necessary if farm income is to be maintained at last year's improved level."

Scott said, "The key to improved net farm income for the grain farmers in 1979 is to keep production in line with reserve, domestic and export requirements." He said, "The payment for set-aside in the 1979 feed grain program should be increased from 10 cents per bu. to 20 cents per bu. in order to insure increased farmer participation."

The Grange maintains that increased set-aside payments would have little or no net effect on outlays from the federal treasury. They feel if producers are attracted into the program in sufficient numbers, production will decrease and maintaining corn prices at or above $2.20 per bushel will make deficiency payments necessary.

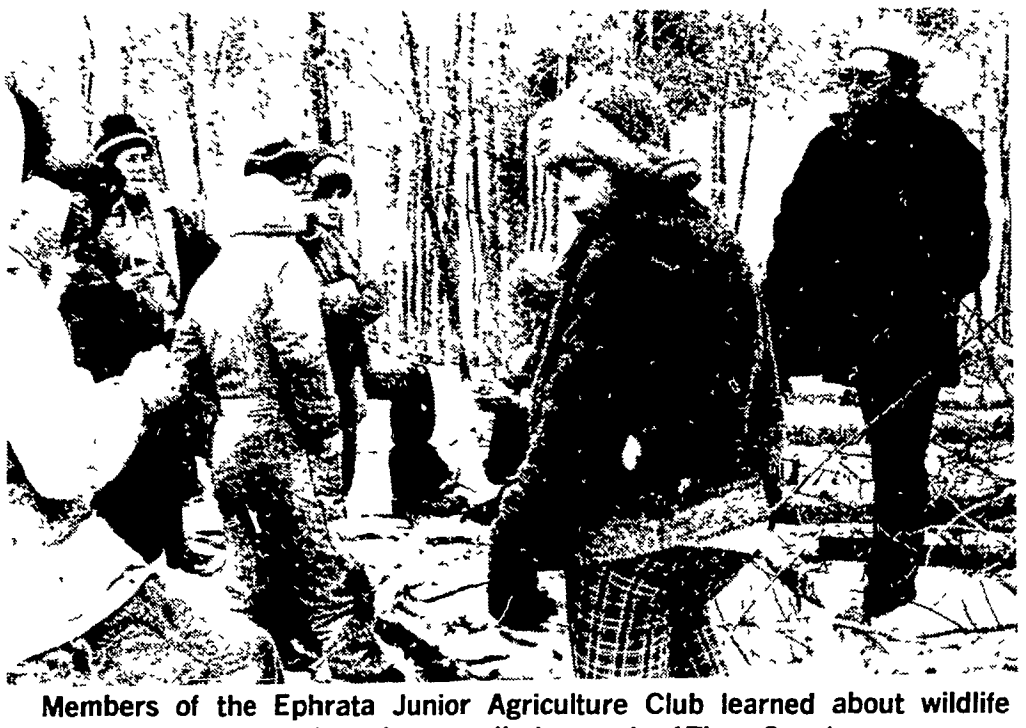
Ag Club returns from camping trip

LITITZ — The Agriculture Club of Ephrata Junior High School visited the Tioga County area January 25-28. Their main objective was cutting browse for deer to eat during the Winter months and provide new growth for wildlife feed and cover.

In addition to their stay in State Game Lands near Hill Creek State Park, the 14 Junior Ag. Club members were also taken on a tour of wildlife food and habitat plots by Tioga-Potter Counties Game Lands Manager Dave Brown. He is an employee of the Pennsylvania Game Commission.

Before returning home, the group also visited the Pennsylvania Grand Canyon, the Monis Fish Hatchery, the Pennsylvania Lumber Museum, the Denton Hill Ski Area, saw a Winter memory program, and attended church services at Draper. In addition, the youngsters also had an opportunity to use snowshoes, observe ice fishing, and visit a beaver house where they learned how beavers eat and live.

Accompanying the group were Charles Ackley, advisor and vocational agriculture instructor; Jack Shrimplin, student treacher; and Leonard Martin, father of one of the boys.



Members of the Ephrata Junior Agriculture Club learned about wildlife management in an "outdoor classroom", the woods of Tioga County.

Attitude towards farmers told

CHICAGO, Ill. - Dr. Leo Shapiro of Leo Shapiro and Associates, Chicago, found that 68 per cent of the public have a positive feeling toward farmers. They believe farmers to be hard working people who are the backbone of our country. The same survey shows 23 per cent of the public believed the farmers do not get enough pay for their crops, and that the farmer has a right to make a living.

4-H tractor club elects officers

QUARRYVILLE - The Southern 4-H Tractor Maintenance Club elected officers at their first meeting on January 26, at Wenger Implement, at the Buck.

Out of 26 members, the following officers were elected: Ken Greider, president; Jeff Long, vice president; Tom Herr, secretary, Stanley Stauffer, treasurer; and Gerald Rohrer, news reporter. Ken Greider, Stanley Stauffer, and Mike Kleinz volunteered to be County Council representatives.

Club leaders are Glenn Aument, Charles Craig, Gordon Herr, Paul Trimble, and Ben Wenger.

Sales gains seen for farm equipment in 1979

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. - Retail 1979 dollar sales of farm equipment in the U.S. are expected to increase at least 7.5 per cent and perhaps as much as 12 per cent from 1978 levels, according to the results of a survey released Jan. 25 by the Farm and Industrial Equipment Institute, Chicago.

This forecase covers such major farm products as tractors, combines, and tillage, hay, and forage equipment.

In addition, overall dollar sales of farmstead products, including items for dairy and livestock production, grain bins and grain dryers, are expected to gain about seven per cent from a year ago.

These projections were reported at the FIEI Annual Winter Marketing & Management Conference and represent the median response range of an early December survey of 51 major producers of field-type machinery and 46 farmstead product manufacturers.

"Although the 1979 median forecast for farm equment calls for a 7.5 per cent increase in dollar volume, there was a concentration of opinions 10 per cent to 12 per cent growth range," said Stanley F. Lancaster, an FIEI Farm Equipment Division director and vice president and general manager of North American Operations for International Harvester's Agricultural Equipment Group.

Lancaster, who presented the semi-annual state of the industry report, noted that, "The higher percentages are more consistent with the unit forecasts and reflect expected sales increases in larger, higher capacity equipment."

The International Harvester executive pointed to seven favorable factors which FIEI members said should benefit 1979 farm equipment sales – higher gross and net farm income, improved livestock and commodity prices, increased exports of farm commodities including expanded shipments to Red China, larger government payments, farm enlargement and higher capacity machines, an increased need to replace equipment, and improved farmer attitudes. Negative factors which could have a dampening effect are a possible general economic slowdown in the U.S. later in the year, inflation and higher priced equipment, high interest rates, large grain reserves, acreage controls, and a larger Brazilian soybean crop.

The generally good outlook for 1979 follows an excellent 1978, a year when agricultural equipment sales started slowly and then picked up during the last half to finish about 15% higher than the previous year. This strong finish was attributable to total 1978 cash farm receipts of about $109 billion, the highest on record; realized net farm income of over $26 billion, up 27% from 1977 and the third highest on record; strengthened farm prices; and record exports.

Tractor and Combine Outlook

For 1979, total sales of farm wheel tractors are forecast at 175,600 units, up slightly from 1978 levels. The largest pickup is in four-wheel drive tractors which are projected at 9,500 units, 9.8 per cent above the expected 1978 sales figure. Unit sales of two-wheel drive tractors, 100 horsepower and over, should increase 1.9 per cent to about 66,500 units, while two-wheel drive tractors, under 100 horsepower, are estimated at 99,000 units, about even with 1978.

The survey indicated self-propelled combine sales would decline 3.7 per cent in 1979 from 31,450 units a year earlier. This may reflect a possible weakness in the corn and soybean markets, Lancaster said. However, he noted the corn head forecast was about the same as 1978 at 20,500 units.

Tillage Equipment Market Strong

The overall tillage equipment market appears strong with 1979 unit sales of moldboard plows estimated at 33,000 units, up 5.4 per cent, disk harrows at 49,650 units, a 4.1 per cent gain; 19,000 field cultivators, a 5.6 per cent increase; and 18,000 chisel plows, a 5.9 per cent improvement.

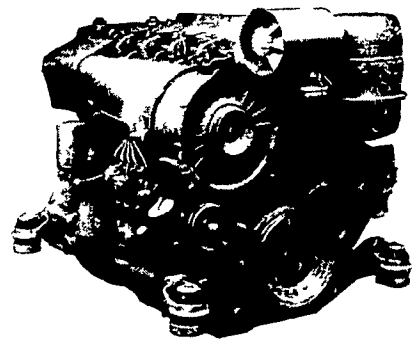
COST


CUTTER

The cost of diesel fuel has jumped nearly 100 percent since October, 1973 and it's still about three cents a gallon cheaper than gasoline. Higher fuel costs call for a closer look at total operating costs when you buy engines. Deutz air-cooled engines use 20 to 40 percent less fuel than most water-cooled diesel engines - far less than gasoline engines. And they are competitively priced. So hadn't you better buy or specify the cost cutter - Deutz? 10 to 500 bhp.

Today there are more competitive brands of air cooled diesels on the market than ever before — yet we doubled our sales in the last two years — which says it all about public acceptance of Deutz diesels.

Mixed Forecast for Hay and Forage Products

Sales of large balers (200 pound bales and over) are predicted at 18,000 units for 1979, a 4.7 per cent gain, while smaller models (under 200 lb. bales) continue a downward trend with the 1979 forecast at 20,000 units, a 5.7 per cent drop.

Windrower and swather sales are expected to increase 3 per cent to 9,000 units in 1979; grinder-mixer retail sales should improve 5 per cent to 10,500 units; while demand for forage harvesters, mower conditioners, and hay stackers should about equal 1978.

Other Equipment

Reflecting the improved outlook for the cotton economy, cotton stripper sales for 1979 are expected to increase sharply to 45 per cent to 1,450 units. Manure spreader sales should show a slight increase of 2.2 per cent from the 18,300 units sold in 1978.

Inventories

In contrast to a year ago, when most manufacturers felt inventories were too high, the majority of respondents indicated they thought inventories were about right, Lancaster noted. The only areas where inventories were felt to be on the high side were four-wheel drive tractors, forage harvesters, and windrowers.

This year, for the first time, FIEI members were asked to project retail sales to 1980, and most looked for continued modest unit percentage gains from 1979 forecasts.

Heavier Demand for Farmstead Products

Farmstead-type equipment producers anticipate retail dollar sales gains of about 7 per cent in 1979 due to relatively high livestock prices, an unsatisfied need for grain handling equipment, improved world markets, a need for more automated equipment, and better farm income.

Government loans at relatively low interest rates should continue to encourage grain storage construction. The manufacturers estimated that dollar sales of grain bins should increase about 2.5 per cent from 1978 with sales of in-bin grain dryers rising four per cent and portable farm augers and elevators up 5.5 per cent. A six per cent gain was predicted for equipment to apply chemicals for insect and weed control.

In addition, the favorable outlook for cattle and hog prices and good profit margins for dairy farmers should result in increases of about 10 per cent for equipment to help mechanize dairy and livestock production.

Lawn and Garden Market

FIEI members involved in the manufacture of lawn and garden equipment are moderately optimistic about 1979, and they predict a six per cent increase in dollar sales. Reasons cited for the expected improvement are a strong housing market in 1978, the relatively high level of employment, a growing interest in gardening, greater concern about lawn and garden maintenance, and above normal snowfall.

Thornburgh's administration as Secretary of Agriculture.

I was born in the Bucks County farm home of my parents on Oct. 19, 1928, and have lived and worked in agriculture ever since I am married to Marion Wilson, we have four children and one grandchild

I graduated from Penn State University in 1950 with a degree in agricultural economics, and I have 12 credits towards a master's degree in public administration from the Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania.

Upon my graduation from Penn State, I worked for the Penn Fruit Company in Philadelphia in a management training program for about a year. In 1951, my wife and I were able to rent a farm adjacent to the home farms operated by my father and older brother. We subsequently were able to purchase our own farm in Bucks county in 1956 -- and we added to it with subsequent purchases in 1965, 1969 and 1972 Today, the 290-acre dairy farm we own is operated in a partnership with our son, James, who serves as the farm manager

I also have had considerable experience in government and in administration. From 1969 to 1977, I served as State Director of the Farmers Home Administration of the United States Department of Agriculture. and was responsible for running the Harrisburg state office and 38 county offices. During this time, I oversaw the lending of an annual $120 million to farmers, homeowners and rural communities. In 1975 and 1976, Pennsylvania's Farmers Home Administration was recognized as having the lowest cost per unit of work in the nation.

From June 1977 to August 1978, I was Grants coordinator for Bucks County

I have held several elective offices. From 1959 to 1965, I was school director -- serving at one time as president of the Upper Bucks Technical-Vocational High School -- and I served as Tinicum Township Tax Collector from 1965 to 1969.

I have served as an officer in many agricultural organizations, including the following

President, the Bucks County Farmers Association for several terms.

Overseer, the Edgewood Grange.

Chairman, the Bucks County Conservation District.

-- Chairman, the Bucks County Extension Executive Committee

Vice-Chairman, the "Clean and Green" state committee.

Director, the Montgomery-Bucks Federal Land Bank Association.

I am currently serving as a trustee of Penn State University, a trustee of the Horsham Friends Meeting and secretary of the Bucks County Republican Committee.

I don't pretend to know all the problems or answers concerning Pennsylvania agriculture, but I do have in mind some objectives we can work toward in the future. I believe we should work to:

Improve the marketing of agricultural commodities and to promote Pennsylvania products.

Preserve agricultural land -- our precious and non-renewable

Cattle, veal down, Sheep numbers up

LANCASTER — Cattle and veal calf receipts at the three major Lancaster County livestock markets, Lancaster Stockyards, New Holland Sales Stables, and Vintage Sales Stables, declined in the 1978 year, while sheep marketings climbed.

The saleable receipts of the slaughter cattle at the three markets slipped nine per cent in that year, according to the figures compiled by the USDA Market News Service.

Despite this lower number than the year previous, it was the second highest number of cattle receipts in the past five years The county's total cattle receipts numbered 256,338 head. This included steers, heifers, cows, bulls, and bullocks

Up a total of ten per cent, sheep sales were reported at 13,981.

In the previous year, 1977, sheep marketings had declined 16 per cent and cattle sales were up 13 per cent.

Because the New Holland swine sales only began in the middle of 1977, there was no true comparison of sales that year to 1978 available.

At a Charlie Chaplin look-alike contest in the 1920's, the third place winner was Charlie Chaplin.

tight a standard cannot be justified in any agronomic evaluation. If we are to continue having an inspection system which is so costly to industry, the major advantage which the dry blend business enjoys - low price - will be gone," the industry spokesman concluded.

Dry blend fertilizer dealers admit that they have some problems to iron out, but they strongly resent any notion that might picture them as deliberately shortchanging farmers. Even with shortages in some analysis, they generally insist that all things considered, the farmer is getting his money's worth. Again, there are disagreements on that score

Former Pennsylvania Secretary of Agriculture Kent Shelhamer, who steadfastly insisted during his term in office that farmers receive specified amounts of soil nutrients in their fertilizer, explained the dilemma to Lancaster Farming as follows:

"Starting in July of 1977, we no longer allowed an excess of one nutrient to make up for a deficiency in one of the other two primary nutrients. The law is being strictly enforced on a nutrient by nutrient basis. We feel that if a farmer buys 10-10-10 fertilizer, he wants to receive 10-10-10 fertilizer and not some other formulation. Therefore, we feel that a bag of fertilizer labeled 10-10-10 should contain what is guaranted and that if it is deficient in one of the primary plant nutrients, that the guarantee has not been met.

"We do have investigational tolerances," Shelhamer continued, "which are exceeded before we consider a fertilizer deficient. For example, if a fertilizer manufacturer sells 10-10-10, we do not find him in violation unless the analysis of the official sample falls below 9.42 per cent nitrogen, 9.31 per cent phosphoric acid, or 9.30 per cent potash.

Shelhamer also disagrees with the industry's claim that only three per cent of his Department's samples were found to be deficient during the 1976-77 fiscal year. "Our calculations show that of all the fertilizer samples taken during that year, a total of six per cent were found deficient in one or more of the primary plant nutrients (N-P-K). In addition, during this time period, fertilizer manufacturers were not found in violation if the total nutrient value in dollars equaled 98 per cent of the guaranteed analyses. In other words, even though a fertilizer was found deficient in one of the nutrients and it was excessive in one or both of the other nutrients, no penalty was assessed as long as the dollar value equaled 98 per cent of the dollar value of the guaranteed analysis," he explained. That portion of the law was changed in July of 1977, as was noted in Shelhamer's earlier statements.

Although Shelhamer is no longer in office, the laws he pushed for are on the books and plenty of dissatisfaction is still evident among the dry blend fertilizer people. They say they want to meet quality standards that are within practical, economical reason. And they also want to have their problems understood and their businesses respected.

resource -- for present and future generations.

Improve our environment while making use of our valuable natural resources.

Provide coordinated research aimed at improving production, processing and distribution of food at reasonable costs for our consumers.

Revise regulations and procedures and carry them out so that the public -- and not the government or the special interests -- is being served most effectively.

Build a new bridge of understanding between farmers and consumers, so that each may understand the other better. Farming, in particular, is a unique industry that many now misunderstand.

I acknowledge that these jobs will be difficult to achieve and I cannot promise to accomplish them overnight. However, I sincerely believe that with hard work and cooperation, we can move our state forward in agriculture and in all areas.

I pledge my full cooperation with the Senate and House Agriculture Committees, and I respectfully ask for your recommendation in support of my nomination to become Secretary of Agriculture.

Thank You.

By helping the 4-H and FFA, we're helping all of us.

In the Agri-Finance Department of National Central Bank we finance projects for active 4-H and FFA members.

That's because we believe that helping preserve the family farm is one of the best ways to insure a better future for us all. And that involves working with our young people.

It's important to give them guidance. Instill the proper values.

And help them acquire the skills they need to be successful farmers.

The 4-H and FFA are working toward these goals. And so, we support their efforts. If you, or someone in your family needs money for a project, stop by and see us.

It just might help us all.

Marketing conference to be February 11 to 13

GETTYSBURG - The full range of farmer-to-consumer marketing activities - roadside, jug milk, U-pick and farmers' markets - will be included in the program of the Twelfth Annual Maryland-Pennsylvania Marketing Conference. It will be held at the Sheraton Inn, Gettysburg, February 11 to 13, 1979.

Featured out-of-state speakers on the two day conference program will be Mrs. Lauren DeCou, Hilltop Orchard, Shiloh, New Jersey, William Penton, Penton's Country Market, Lorain, Ohio and Kenneth Brasfield, Chief of the USDA Food Distribution Research Laboratory at Beltsville, Maryland.

For milk juggers, there will be a full day (Tuesday, February 13) devoted to topics directly related to the sale program of farm milk stores. William Dagostin operator of the Will-O-Bett Dairy Farm near Berwick will describe his recently enlarged store and the effect this has had on sales. Five other operators of jug milk stores will describe their experience in adding new products. Professor Sidney Barnard, specialist in milk quality control and Mr. William Fouse, Chief, Division of Milk Sanitation, Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture will be on the jugger's program. Both will be available for discussion of individual quality or sanitation problems.

Among the general interest topics to be discussed are "Recent Changes in Wage and Hour Laws" and "Realistic Insurance Coverages and Costs." These will be covered by Jan Carson and Harold Alderfer of the Pennsylvania Farmers Association.

Three operators of roadside markets in rural locations in Maryland and Pennsylvania will show slides of their markets and explain their strategy for attracting customers. Two growers with long experience in operating U-pick vegetable and strawberry acreages will conduct a session on "Management of Pick-Your-Own Selling" Tuesday morning.

The conference will open Sunday evening, February 11, with a "Sweet Tooth Jamboree Reception" in the exhibits area. James H. Johnson from Terra Alta, West Virginia will present a demonstration of his honey and candle products.

Annual meetings of the Maryland Roadside Market Association and the Pennsylvania Retail Farm Markets Division of PFA will be held on Monday afternoon. These meetings will be followed by a banquet at which the new Pennsylvania Secretary of Agriculture, Penrose Hallowell has been invited to be the speaker. The banquet will be followed by dancing to the music of the Bill Dayton orchestra.

Persons residing in Maryland or Pennsylvania desiring to register for this conference should contact their County Extension Director. Others should contact H. H. Hoecker, University of Maryland, College Park, Md. 20742.

Oat seed case settled

ANNAPOLIS, Md. — Maryland Department of Agriculture seed inspection officials have been notified by USDA that a Pontiac, Illinois, firm has paid $1,575 to settle a longstanding case involving charges that certain lots of oat seed shipped by the firm in 1974 to 1977 were in violation of the Federal Seed Act and the Maryland Seed Law.

The firm, Wilken Seed Grains Inc., in agreeing to the settlement neither admitted or denied the charges which were brought after seed regulatory officials in Maryland, Pennsylvania and Virginia complained that the lots of seed in question were in violation regarding labeling as to test dates, germination, failure to identify the shipper, and, contained an excess amount of noxious weed seeds.

N.J. Winter farm meetings scheduled

FLEMINGTON, N.J. - The Hunterdon County, N.J. Cooperative Extension Service schedules its Winter series annually to begin in early February and spill over into March.

There are five meetings set for the Extension Center's large meeting room, evenings beginning at 8 p.m. on Field Crops (two nights), dairy beef, sheep-swine.

First night is February 6, and it will be devoted to tillage practices. A farmer panel will be featured on the program. Growers, like Bob Fulper, Lambertville, will describe their preferred tillage methods. Advantages and disadvantages of no-till, minimum till, and conventional tillage will be discussed.

Contributing to the Field Crops I program will also be Dr. Jim Justin, Cook College Extension specialist in Soils and Crops, discussing cover crops and new crop varieties.

Dr. Roy Flannery, soils specialist, will be describing methods to increase crop yields through the proper use of lime and fertilizer.

Second night in the Winter series will be devoted to dairy topics and is set for February 13. Extension Specialists Frank Wright and Edward Oleskie will be presenting their latest recommendations on feeding, breeding and care of dairy cattle. A special slide talk, 'Bovine Reproduction," will be presented by Dr. Phillip Garrett, Ringoes, area veterinarian Dr Garrett has presented this talk to many farm groups over the northeast.

Subsequent meetings are: Field Crops II - "Pests...weed and insect control," on February 21; beef topics on February 28; and sheep-swine on Tuesday, March 6.

We alert farmers to the Tuesday-Wednesday scheduling. This was necessary as a meeting room was just not available for our usually five or six consecutive Wednesday nights. So, we had to settle for a number of Tuesdays

A three-night series on horse management and care is being set for Wednesday evenings, March 14, 21 and 28. More details will be available in a few weeks on the details of the program and registration.

The horse series in past years have been popular, often bringing in noted authorities on a variety of subjects related to good horse care, selection, training, feeding, and health practices.

All educational programs of the Cooperative Extension Service are offered without regard to race, color or national origin There is no charge for the first five sessions being scheduled; however, there is generally a nominal fee for the horse series to defray the expenses involved.

Though these meetings are all scheduled for the Extension Center in Hunterdon County, working with us in planning the series and most of our other agricultural programs are H.N. Repair, Somerset's County Agent, and new Mercer County Agricultural Agent, Jonathan Repair.

Coon honored for 36 years of service

UNIVERSITY PARK - Dr and Mrs. Beckford F Coon of State College were honored recently at a banquet observing Dr Coon's retirement after 36 years with the University The event was held at the Elks Country Club, Boalsburg.

Dr. Coon served as acting head of the Department of Entomology, College of Agriculture, when the department was organized in 1963. He became department head in 1965. He retired December 31.

Dr. Sam N. Smyth, chairman of arrangements, commented on the three Penn State careers of Dr. Coon. He served first as economic entomologist at the Southeastern Field Research Laboratory at Landisville from 1943 to 1955. Then in 1955 he came to University Park for research on insect resistance studies of small grains. At the same time, he taught courses dealing with general entomology and zoology. And he conducted seminars on insect resistance in plants. The third career was that of administrator.

Smyth reported the Department of Entomology has doubled in number of faculty members since 1965. The graduate program has expanded from two to 40 students. An undergraduate major in entomology was established. The number of courses doubled while the number of students nearly tripled. Facilities have improved greatly, Smyth added.

"Dr. Coon's style as a department head was that of a reluctant boss, but a warm friend," Dr. Smyth stated. "He showed a personal interest in the progress of students and faculty. And he was always ready to listen to problems and assist with solutions," Smyth added.

The department's growth has been accompanied by a high rate of research publications, it was pointed out, with many faculty members achieving professional prominence as well as significant research grants.

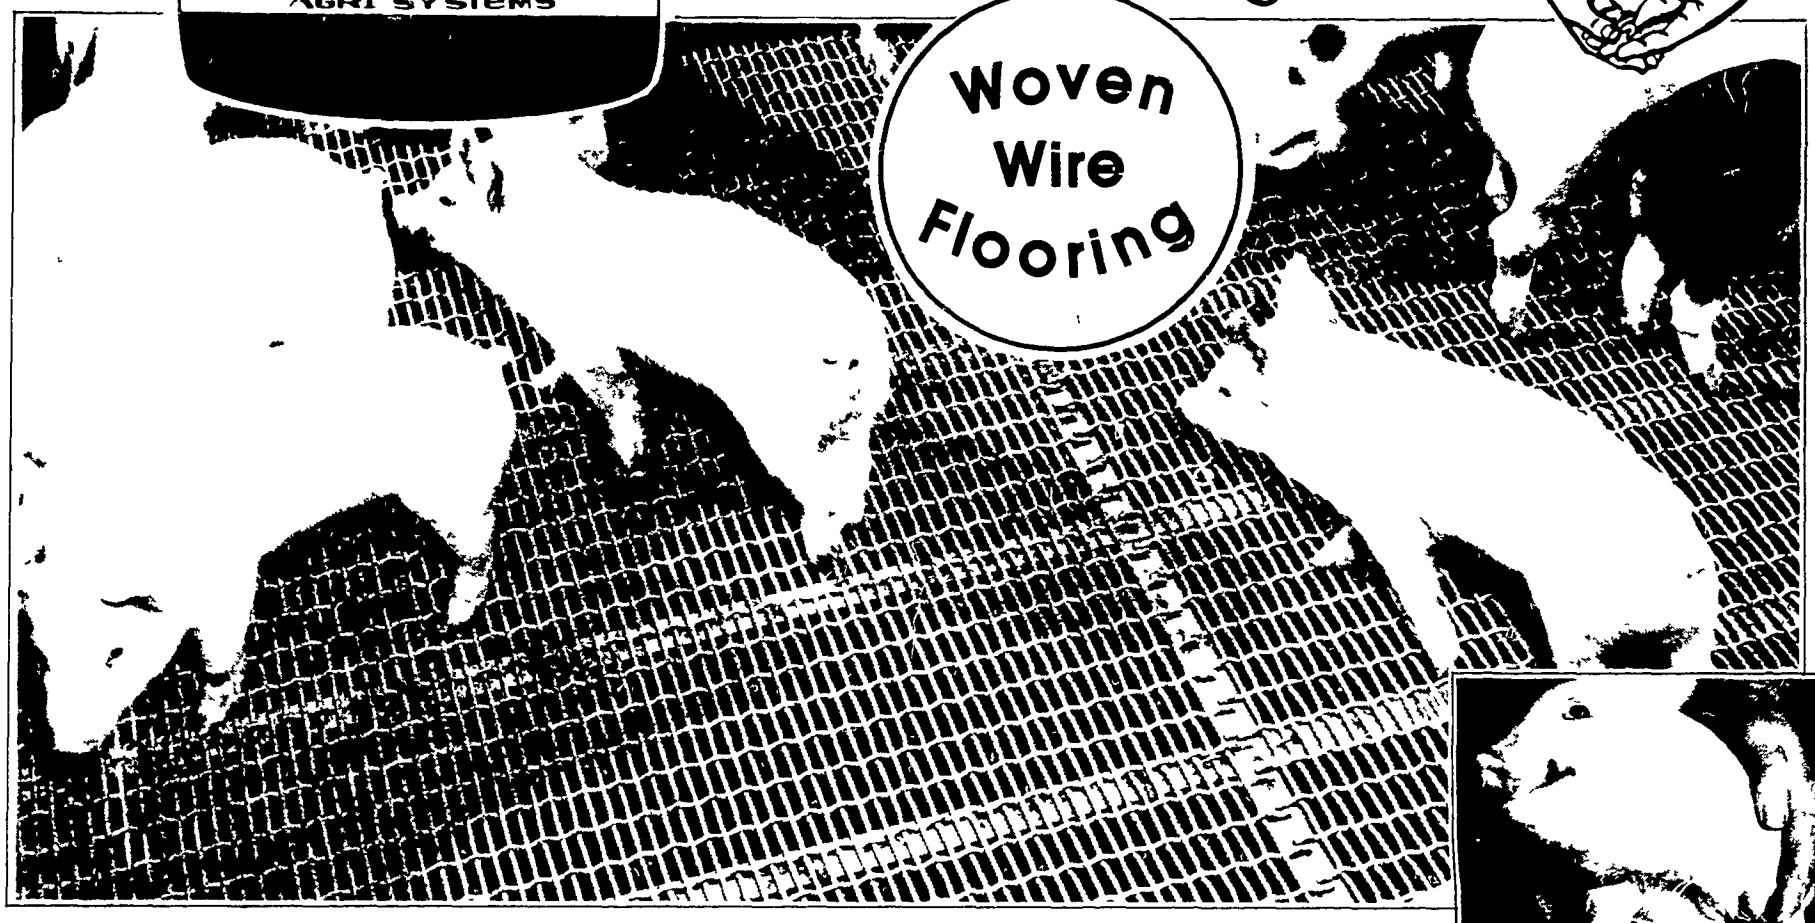
Tender-Care®

Woven Wire Flooring



Sore-free legs and feet

The Sensational Different Type Flooring For Pigs Of All Sizes and Ages . . . that ❶ Greatly Reduces Leg and Foot Abrasions and Sores ❷ Makes 3-Week Weaning Practical ❸ Keeps Dry; Minimizes Corrosion and Rusting; Gives Many More Years of Service.

Now—an idea, new to America, whose time has come. .that has so many advantages that all other types of flooring (metal, concrete, plastic, etc) are obsolete. It has a sound record of successful use in Europe for over ten years. It should be used for both new and existing livestock buildings It's easy to replace all old, outmoded types of flooring.

① REDUCES LEG AND FOOT PROBLEMS—

Unlike other types of flooring, Tender-Care woven wire flooring sheds moisture like a duck sheds water, because there are no horizontal flat surfaces on which moisture and wet manure accumulate. No need to increase heat and ventilation to dry floors As a result, pigs have a secure footing Sores on legs and feet caused by slipping are virtually a thing of the past. Fuel cost is reduced and you have healthier hogs.

② MAKES 3-WEEK WEANING A REALITY—

This cleaner, dryer atmosphere, with slipping eliminated, reduces stress on baby pigs and they are ready for weaning sooner. Also, absence of accumulations of manure means that all the space in each pen is usable, and pen size can actually be reduced for any given number of pigs

Faster weaning permits producers to rebreed sows in seven days, resulting in greater profit from more frequent, larger litters

SUG RETAIL PRICE $3.85 SQ FOOT

③ DRY FLOORING MEANS LONGER LIFE—

Since Farmcraft Tender-Care woven wire flooring remains dry, corrosion and rusting are minimized. Wear-out is put back for many years, and your cost per year is greatly reduced.

EASY TO INSTALL

In new construction, FARMCRAFT Tender-Care Woven Wire Flooring can be installed just as easily and with no more cost than any type of slat flooring.

Many hog producers have found that Tender-Care can be installed to replace concrete slat flooring by removing three of every four concrete slats, leaving one 4-inch concrete slat for support.

Polyurethane joiner stripping is available to cover the area where the sheets come together, but it is not absolutely necessary.

Installation using galvanized or cadmium-coated lags or washers (min. 1-¾ inches) is recommended

Md. ag department officer outlines seed situation

ANNAPOLIS, Md. - Farmers making plans for the 1979 growing season are advised to think carefully about their seed requirements according to Maurice H. Day, chief of the Maryland Department of Agriculture's Turf and Seed Section.

"Overall," Day says, "seed supplies and quality look good and the price farmers can expect to pay appear at this time to be both fair and firm".

"There is one consideration which clouds the picture," Day points out," and that is the possibility of a major trucking strike. Those buying substantial quantities of seed which has to be hauled long distances might well order now and take delivery."

Following is Day's summary outline for the seed situation as it appears in mid-January:

Seed corn - OK supply, good quality for all varieties.

Soybeans - much improved over last year, local and regionally produced seed is of good quality, demand strong so far.

Alfalfa - very short supply, particularly of the better varieties. Price will be up and early buying is advised.

Spring oats - very short supply of many of the old popular varieties. Adequate to good supplies of Garry, Noble, Otee and Jaycee. Farmers are advised to buy early and take delivery. Later deliveries will reflect other, less adaptable varieties, and lower quality.

Red clover - very little seed due to dry weather. Named varieties and North Central strains OK to good.

Korean Lespedeza - good supply, quality varies so buy carefully. Farmers should insist on dodder-free seed

Striate Lespedeza - supply short and quality good.

Serecia Lespedeza - supply and quality good.

Timothy - supply good, quality very good.

Orchardgrass - supply is short and quality down. Test so far have shown low purity and low germination. Farmers should shop for seed from Virginia, Kentucky and Missouri. Large imports of seed are coming in.

K-31 (fescue) - very short supplies of certified seed. Uncertified, "Tall Fescue," is in good supply.

Kentucky Bluegrass - good supply of fair to good quality.

Merion - very, very short supply.

Adelphi - short supply of the best variety.

Annual Ryegrasses - good supply and quality.

Perennial Ryegrasses - very good supply.

Proprietary Varieties of Grasses - a good supply in most cases.

Redtop - supply adequate to short.

Day says buyers of turf-type seeds should insist on certified seed more than ever this year. "It more than pays its extra cost back through better germination and purity. There is no sense planting weeds."

On the vegetable seed front, Day says, "supplies are OK to good while quality on some items is off and as always there are some scarce items.

"Seed buyers should shop around and ask questions both as regards price and quality Day adds. "If dealers or farmers have doubts the seed should be tested before the heavy investment of planting is made."

1979 seed catalogs available

DOYLESTOWN - Many new vegetables are introduced in the 1979 Burpee catalog. Included in the list are: sugar snap peas, sweet'n early hybrid cantaloupe, happy days double French marigold, fancy plumes celosia, and sparkling bubbles Iceland poppy. These newcomers are pictured in color, and are fully described in the 1979 "Burpee Seeds and Everything for the Garden" catalog, now ready for mailing to millions of home gardeners.

Besides the newcomers, including eleven more All-America Winners, Burpee hasn't forgotten time-tested favorites. The 1979 catalog lists a complete selection of tried-and-true varieties of vegetables, flowers, bulbs, trees, shrubs, fruit, perennials and roses. If gardening area is limited, one'll especially appreciate spacesavers that are included.

Gardening and food preservation are much more fun with the right items to ease chores and insure success.

Hundreds of useful items are offered in Burpee's 1979 catalog. When it comes to freezing, canning or drying garden surplus for Winter meals, one'll find the equipment to help. But that's not all. Burpee Clocks keep one on time as they beautify the home and remind one of planting schedules. The Sunshine Plant Shelf is an attractive, handy way to grow and display houseplants but a greenhouse is the ideal place to garden indoors.

A person can read all about and "see" greenhouses, vegetables, flowers, bulbs, nursery-stock, garden-ready plants, and house and garden items in the 184-page 1979 "Burpee Seeds and Everything for the Garden" Catalog. If one bought from Burpee last year, he'll automatically receive a copy of the 1979 issue. If one is not on the mailing list, he may send for his free 1979 Burpee Catalog from the Burpee Branch Office nearest his home: Warminster, Pa. 18974; Clinton, Ia. 52732; Riverside, Ca. 92502.

GOT TORQUE AMPLIFIER, CLUTCH AND PRESSURE PLATE PROBLEMS WITH YOUR IH TRACTORS?

There is a company in the West that has been rebuilding T.A. units for several years now and having excellent results. The basic reason for their success is the sprag clutch they use. In the areas where they have been selling, they even have IH dealers that use this unit almost entirely.

(1) They feel this sprag clutch is giving less problems than even IH's new beefed up unit because of the design of the sprags.
(2) This unit can be bought as individual parts which is many times all you need or as a complete renewed unit ready to set in your tractor.
(3) They have a warranty up to 2000 hrs., or 3 years . . . and . . .
(4) They don't cost any more and to most buyers they are costing less than from the big company. They offer same day shipment by UPS or Greyhound bus. They also have a program on rebuilt Dynalife clutches and pressure plates.

If you want more information write me and I will get the literature to you. Raymond B. Leaman, RD #1, Willow Street, Penna. 17584.

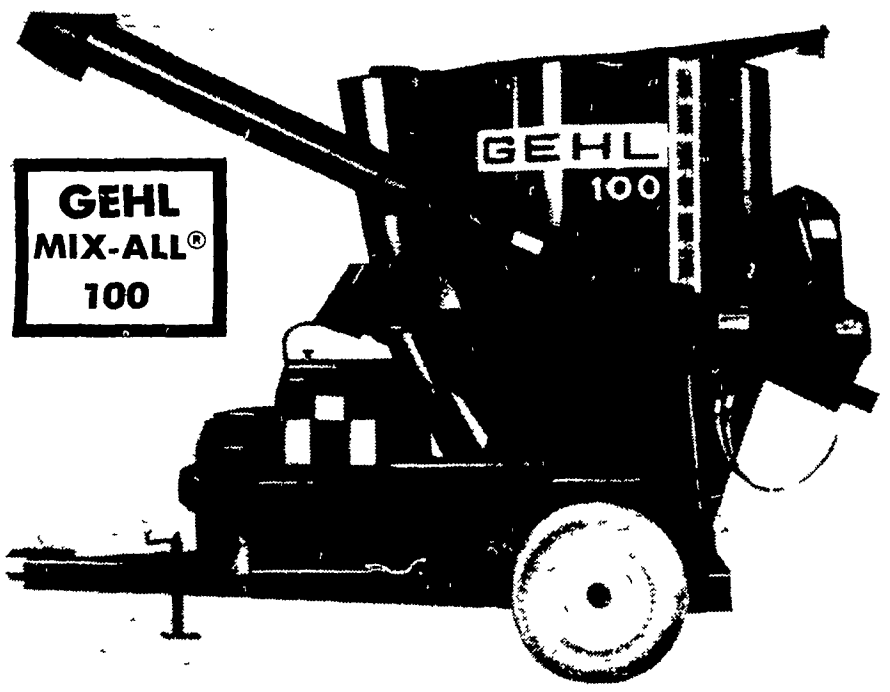
STEP UP TO THE ALL NEW HYDRAULIC MILL



TOTAL CONTROL HYDRAULICS

Now you can have the convenience and dependability of hydraulically operated feedmaking on your farm. The drive belts, chains and gear clusters have been eliminated from feeding attachments and unloading mechanisms on the 100 and the 135 Mix-Alls Now you have variable speed control, hydraulically, to get the greatest capacity. You also get fast, smooth unloading.

The hydraulic system is self-contained The pump develops 2,000 psi and pumps at 10½ gallons per minute The results to you are more power and higher motor speeds Orbit motors run the stationary discharge conveyor, and the in-feeding attachments, such as the swinging auger feeder, the feed roll and the power bale feeder apron, with or without the small grain hopper.

When the Mix-All is equipped with a gravity feeder only, the tractor hydraulics are required to operate the unloading system.

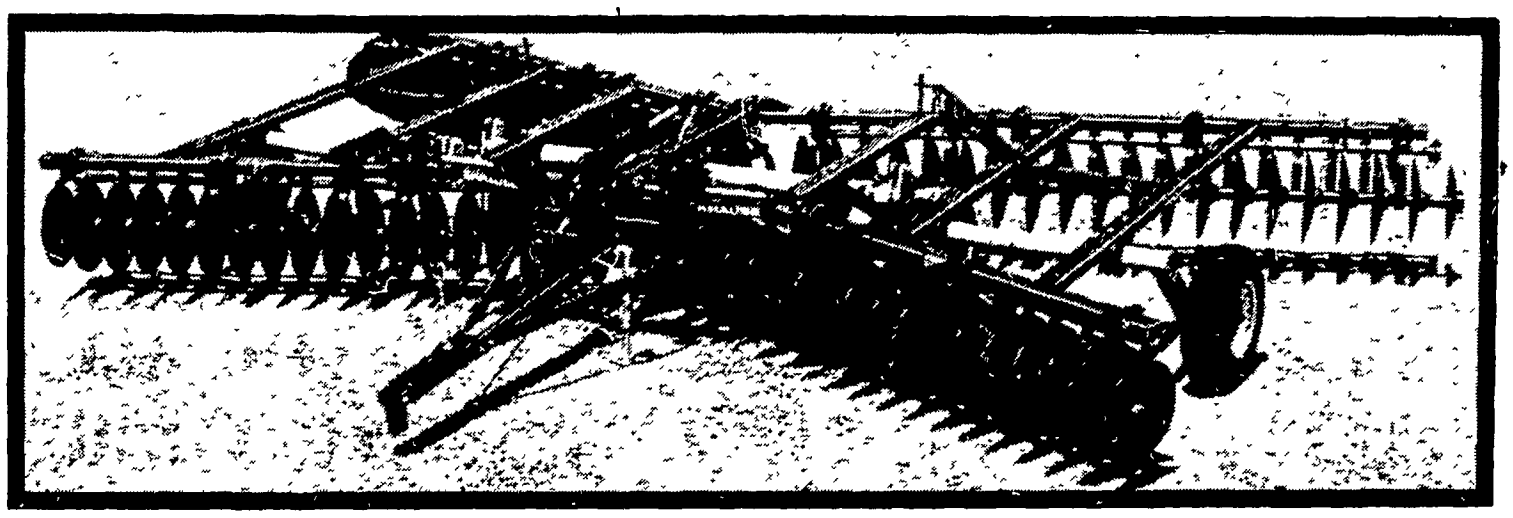
"THE ONLY OPEN HOUSE I GO TO ALL DAY IS AT C.B. HOOBER'S ... THEY HAVE SUCH EQUIPMENT! YOU CAN'T IMAGINE SO MUCH STUFF ... IT'S JUST LIKE AT THE FARM SHOW ... AND COFFEE AND DOUGHNUTS EVERY DAY WITH LUNCH ON THURSDAY ... IT'S SUCH GOOD EATS!

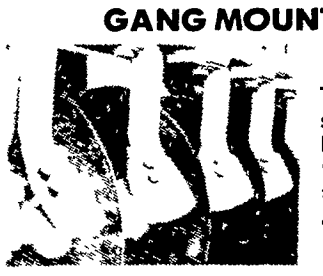
Krause Rock-Flex™ Disc LOVES ROCKS!



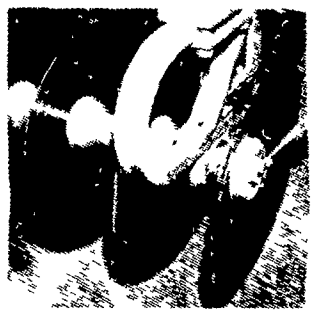
FLEXIBLE BEARING ARMS

Rugged steel C-shaped bearing arms provide the strength to assure good penetration yet allow flexibility for the disc gangs to ride over obstructions. This helps prevent damage to the gang assembly and frame members.

GANG MOUNTED SCRAPERS



The rugged paddle-type scrapers are mounted to the bearing hangers so they move with the disc gang. This keeps the scraper next the the blade at all times.



HEAVY GAUGE BLADES

High carbon 24" x ¼" disc blades are standard equipment. These thick heavy blades will provide the strength required when striking obstacles in the field. Extra heavy-duty spools are also used on all rock-flex models.

AVAILABLE IN SIZES FROM 12 TO 45 FT. AND FROM 100 TO 300 LBS. PER BLADE.

S.S. TRUCK BODY GRAIN DRYER SYSTEM

302 653 9651 Kenton, Del 19955

This patented SS System provide farmers the advantage of contracting for harvest time delivery for cash with end users, viz Feed mills or Export firms

No one knows what 1979 harvest time cash prices will be, but every farmer knows present quotations of $3 25 for July wheat, $2 50 December corn, and $6 50 November beans, for a safe part of his expected crop will pay the bills, and save 35¢ in storage, interest and insurance costs, per bushel

Every farmer knows a truck load of grain never weighs more than the day the truck is loaded by the combine The grain may be dried on the truck with Patented SS Truck Dryer System for full price with no moisture discounts, no labor unloading or reloading, no waste, no dust pollution, and no cracked grain

In addition to 35¢ storage expense and cleaning waste with loss of weight, there may be damage and loss by birds, rodents and weavil, also may be heated grain problems, or mixed grain errors in stored grain

Harvest time Truck Body Drying Systems eliminate huge 50 to 100 thousand dollar elevator costs for cement, electric, dryer, legs, tanks, augers, motors, cleaners scales, dump pits, perforated floors, ladders, distributors, bin fans lights sensors, together with heavy insurance and maintenance, with big electric bills for up to a dozen electric motors

A farmer can buy SS TRUCK BODY EQUIPMENT for two 40 foot trailers and heater for $10,000 or two 20 foot bodies for $8000, which will dry 250 bushels per hour with 5 point moisture reduction, at approximately 5¢ per bushel cost

Please allow 60 to 90 days for delivery

Dear sir,

If you are ambitious and want an independent business of your own, now is the time for you to look into becoming an AMS/OIL Dealer. There is no better low investment business opportunity. There are no "catches", no high investment or large inventories to get started and no pressure applied to "talk you into it".

AMS/OIL has an excellent line of products and they need dealers to sell them. We are looking for good people who are willing to work and want to make money doing it. You owe it to yourself to check further into the AMS/OIL opportunity..... perhaps it won't be for you, but for many, an AMS/OIL business will be a chance of a lifetime to accomplish their dreams!

Go with the big performers in your beef or dairy operation: VAN DALE Liquid Manure Spreaders. Choose a big capacity tank that can handle your year-in, year-out manure disposal problem. Liquid Manure is the non-messy, profitable way to go. You're putting manure right onto the ground where it goes to work faster and does the most good. And liquid manure contains more nutrient value than dry, making its use even more beneficial.

Considerable savings in commercial fertilizer purchases can often be realized. You can now manage your assets to your advantage. The VAN DALE Slinger is built rugged so you can spread when time and weather are right.

The low, straight-back spread pattern does not blow manure all over the operator and equipment, still covers up to a 40' wide swath. And you don't have to drive over ground already spread.

A large fill hole provides easy access. Heavy, reinforced oval tank with full length beam supports and a new, extra tough walking beam undercarriage gives maximum stability and easy maneuvering.

Combine the Slinger with a VAN DALE Agitator/Filler Pump and a VAN DALE Above Ground Storage Tank. You'll have a rugged manure system that will return dividends in labor and time saved for many, many years.

THE ALL NEW VAN DALE®

HIGH PRESSURE CENTRIFUGAL PUMP

Meet the latest addition to the VAN DALE line of liquid manure handling products. It's the new VAN DALE high pressure centrifugal pump.

This pump is specifically designed to get at those really hard to reach spots in livestock manure systems. You know ... those narrow, lowdown pit openings that make it a real problem to agitate manure.

The VAN DALE centrifugal pump will reach most of 'em ... and deliver plenty of rugged power to get the job done right.

Manure is brought into the impeller housing through a 6" suction hose, discharges back into the pit through a 4" flexible hose. The pump will develop up to 70 p.s.i. pressure to help break solid deposits for easier loading. The pump will agitate, transfer or load manure at a rate of up to 2,500 gallons per minute.

Look into the benefits of the VAN DALE high pressure centrifugal pump today. It could be just the problem solver you are looking for.

Crafts keep the Winter blahs away

By SUSAN KAUFFMAN
Staff Writer

Those people who inhabit the cold Winter regions have to learn to live with it gracefully or else submit to a bad case of the Winter doldrums year after year. Betsy Whitman, a resourceful homemaker in Southern Lancaster County spends her Winter time productively as she is not busy with garden, canning and freezing activities.

In sharp contrast to her bouncy, energy - packed way of conversation, Betys's temperament is one of considerable patience.Enthusiastically pursuring her many Wintertime activities, she manages to work methodically and painstakingly until she reaches her goals. A multitalented woman, who says that she doesn't really do anything very well, she admits that she loves doing many crafts. Among the list of accomplishments are sewing related activities, pen and ink and acrylic free-hand painting, crocheting, rug braiding, ceramics, and devising ways to decorate her home to suit herself, her husband and her two sons.

Originally coming from Virginia, Betsy and her husband have lived in Lancaster County for ten years, but have moved many times during that decade. After nearly completing the restoration and interior decorating of an old creamery serving as their home, the Whitmans recently purchased a small farm "just up the road" and started remodelling all over again.

Betsy says she uses the extra time available in the Winter to do the many things she likes to do for her family and for her home. Among the top priority activities are making all her husband's suits during these months. Edward, her husband, is employed as a salesman for a printing firm. She also makes some garments for her sons, 16 year-old Scott and 11 year-old Bryan.

As is the case with her seamstress arts, Betsy admits that she teaches herself all of the crafts she does. "If I have an idea that I would like to do a certain thing for the house for instance, then, I go to the library and get some books to explain how to do it," she related "There are books on everything that can tell and show you what to do.!"

Not going to organized craft classes is more expedient to her. "By the time you get dressed and go and buy the same supplies everybody else does, you could have it made at home!" she quipped. She added however that she had enjoyed series of ceramics classes in the past.

Betsy usually has a specific need in mind when she pursues a craft project. Redecorating and restoring an old homestead with personal charm and taste give her and her "handy-man" husband plenty to keep them busy. While Edward may be chipping away at a cement block to free a brick hearth that is hidden inside, Betsy is probably conjuring up a unique way to display a collection of antique items, or family snapshots, or crocks, or whatever, the family may have on hand.

Pursuing a particular craft to fulfill a specific decorating need is the motivation for much of her work.

"I don't really enjoy working with a craft unless I have a specific use for it," she stated emphatically. "I love to have lots of closets to store things, but I don't like to put crafts out of sight. What would be the use of doing them if you did not get to enjoy them when they are done?" she asked.

Having a practical nature, Betsy and her family, especially Edward, who enjoys the physical labor involved in the restoration projects after a day of working with a less physical occupation, are delighted when they uncover a hidden or forgotten or discarded "treasure."

Some of the talents of Betsy Whitman are apparent in the photographs above. In the top picture, there are some of the valentine cards which she has made, using foil, angels, and animals clipped from Christmas cards, decorated with fabrics and lace. In the second picture, printer type boxes are mounted on the sewing room wall to hold spools, zippers, and sewing notions within easy reach. Betsy is busy marking button holes on a suit she is completing for her husband.

These unexpected treasures may be in the form of a brick hearth cemented over years ago, garage sale items that suit their whims and tastes, and odds and ends that they have discovered in the old barns and shed on the property.

"I like to work with what I have on hand if it will fit into my plan," Betsy said. She and her family enjoy finding pratical and decorative uses for the things they have either collected or made over the years. One example of a utilitarian as well as decorative use of an object is the pair of printer's type drawers which have been mounted on the wall above Betsy's sewing room workbench. The numerous, various-sized slots provide instant spotting of threads, zippers, and sewing notions.

Taking the school photos out of the drawers and creating frames from cardboard and cloth, Betsy has an attractive focal point in one bedroom. Of course each of the bedrooms displays her quilting work, with a block patterned, embroidered Dr. Seuss characters quilt in one room, an eagle design quilt in another, and a brightly-colored, floral, appliqued quilt in yet another room.

Using white walls throughout the home except for the bathroom, which Betsy wallpapered in a subdued brown and pale blue floral stripe, she creates her art work and crafts as accents. Bright-red gathered curtains in the kitchen boldy restate the red of brick in the floor which they put in after they bought the home. Although Edward usually refinishes the furniture, Betsy painted a high-backed bench red and added hand-painted acrylics distelfink figures.

"You could paint designs on almost anything," she said. "Mailboxes, wooden barrels or anything and if you can't paint, then maybe you could use a decal if you like," she added.

When asked if she ever started a task and then lost interest and did not complete it, she said, "I usually have a specific use for the itme so I need to finish it. I make myself finish any big jobs before I start another one. I have several small crafts going at a time, but I can pick them up at odd moments when I am waiting for supper. I hate to just wait. I always have something handy to work on to fill the time. But I make myself finish one suit before I start another or one quilt before I start another," she re-emphasized.

Since she teaches herself as she goes along, she says she has to keep working until things work out right. If one way does not seem to be the answer then she studies it until she finds a solution. Right now the Whitmans have a dilemma of what to do with an exposed beam that runs across the bedroom four feet off the floor. They had intended to cut it out but found that it supported the outside wall. They want to keep the beam partition open to allow for moving furniture into the rooms in back of it. Their ingenuity will come up with something eventually - perhaps as a planter base.

Of special interest this time of year among her many artistic talents is the making of greeting cards. Each year Betsy designs in pen and ink, the family's Christmas cards. They are of existing buildings in the White Rock area. In past years, when the boys were still young enough to enjoy it, they made their own Valentine's cards. Several that Betsy has done in the past include foil paper, animal images and angels taken from saved Christmas cards. She has also used material fused together with stitch-witchery and lettered by the sewing machine.

Another Valentine creation was constructed from lace flowers snipped from wide lace trim and placed against a dark red background paper or heavy art paper. She uses pen or pencil to inscribe the valentine messages inside the cards.

"This is the time of year when I can get these things done," she explained. "I'm too busy in the Summer with the garden and canning and freezing to get big projects done. I can get a lot done now if I don't run around too much!"

Betsy is active in church activities and recently a new member of a Farm Women group. She has had the usual task of chauffering children home from work or to and

Directors elected to Farm and Home Foundation

By SALLY BAIR
Staff Writer

LANCASTER - Nearly 175 people participated in the annual meeting of the Farm and Home Foundation last Thursday evening, electing seven directors to serve three year terms on the Board.

Re-elected to the Board were Abner Houseknecht, Millersville R1; J. Everett Kreider, Lancaster; Jay Landis, Lancaster; Mrs. David Miller, Lancaster; and Larry Skromme, Lancaster. Newly elected board members are Mrs. N. Alan Bair, Columbia R2; and Mrs. Clair Baum, Elizabethtown R3.

President Jay Landis called 1978 "a real good year for the Farm and Home Foundation." He reported that all space is currently rented and the Board is optimistic that 1979 will be another successful year.

Howard E. Campbell, business manager, revealed that 800 meetings were held at the Farm and Home Center in 1978 and were attended by 60,000 people. There were 126 meetings catered there. Campbell said, "We are very fortunate to have it 100 per cent occupied." He credited the Board of Directors for their work and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Brubaker for their cooperation in providing custodial service.

County Agent M.M. Smith, chairman of the scholarship committee, reported that 12 $500 scholarships were awarded last year to five agricultural students, three home economics students from band practice. For several years she was a teacher-aide at Bart Colerain Elementary school. She had a cub scout group and a 4-H group as well in the past.

She says of herself, "If I would just stick to one craft then maybe I would get good at it, but I can't. I keep going to something else after a while."

Whether she considers herself as less than a good craftsman, her home and its blend of color and texture and partical use of hand-crafted items is evidence of an artist's touch. That alone would be sufficient to convince one of her skill, but add to that the many requests for help in craft projects that she receives.

She has the talent and the eye to see what a room needs, the ingenuity to design it or copy from an idea she finds and the determination and patience to work at it until its done.

Betsy added, "My family is very appreciative of what I do and that means so much."

Betsy's next project is to needlepoint a bench cover for the organ bench and she has been contemplating making a quilt consisting of blocks which picture the buildings and history of the immediate area. She is not so sure about the last project and she is not entirely sure about the color of the bench cushion, but Betsy will, if the past is any way to predict the future, surely find a way to productively spend the Winter hours.

Ladies Have You Heard?

ALL ABOUT BEANS

Dry beans are nutritious, good to eat and economical to buy. They supply protein, iron, B vitamins and food energy. Adding dry beans to your families' meals is an inexpensive and delicious means of contributing to your family's good health.

To soak dry beans, use 2-½ to 3 cups of water for each cup of dry beans. Traditionally, beans have been soaked overnight. However, you can speed up this procedure by boiling the beans for 2 minutes, then soaking for one hour before cooking.

To cook dry beans, use the soaking water and boil the beans very gently. Rapid boiling and constant stirring causes the skin to break and hurts not only the flavor, but also the nutritive value of the beans.

Cooking time varies with the variety of bean. Here is a handy, quick reference guide for cooking times.

Black beans (turtle soup beans) - about 2 hours.

Blackeyed beans (blackeyed peas, cow beans) - ½ hour.

Cranberry beans - about 2 hours.

Great Northern beans - 1 to 1-½ hours.

Kidney beans - about 2 hours.

Lima beans - 1 hour for large and 45 minutes for small.

Navy or pea beans - 1-1½ hours to 2 hours.

Pinto beans - about 2 hours.

Your imagination is the only limit in discovering new and tasty ways to serve dry beans. Here is an idea to get you started.

Lima Bean and Sausage Casserole

1 cup large dry lima beans
2-½ cups water
1 teaspoon salt
3 medium carrots, sliced
½ pound sausage
2 tablespoons chopped onion

Wash and soak beans. Use the soaking water for the 2-½ cups water. Add salt and bring to a boil and simmer for 30 minutes. Add carrots the last five minutes. Do not drain. If bulk sausage is used, blend in onion and shape in small patties, brown in fry pan. For links, cut into ½ inch slices and brown with onion. Add the cooked sausage and 2 tablespoons of drippings to the beans. Bake in a 350°F. oven, in a covered casserole, until beans are tender, about 1 hour. Add water during baking if necessary. Serves 4.

KITCHEN CABINET CLEANUP

There comes a time every so often when kitchen cabinets require a thorough cleaning. A little organization makes the job easier.

Prepare a bucket or dishpan of warm detergent or soap suds, another of water. Have a sponge or clean cloth handy as well as some type of shelf covering and scissors.

Use a sturdy stepstool or ladder to reach high shelves. Do not overreach. Start with the bottom shelf and take everything out and place on the counter or nearby table. Next take everything from the second shelf and place on the now empty first shelf. Continue moving the contents of each shelf to the shelf below. This method keeps to a minimum the stooping and bending that would result for putting the contents of each shelf on a counter or table.

Starting with the top shelf, remove old lining paper and discard. Wash shelf and cabinet walls with sponge or clean cloth dipped in suds. Rinse and wipe dry. Cut new lining paper to fit and smooth in place. Or line shelves with a type of washable covering.

Replace the contents from the shelf below, wiping utensils, cans and jars and discarding anything that is no longer useable. Also consider reorganizing supplies so that those that are used frequently are located on the lower shelves, while items used less often are placed on upper shelves. Finish each cabinet by washing and rinsing the doors, inside and out, particularly the areas surrounding knobs and handles where finger marks collect. You may want to shine the exteriors of wooden doors with a special wood polish.

Local schools to play greater role in USDA food distribution

WASHINGTON, D.C. - Assistant Secretary of Agriculture Carol Tucker Foreman has announced plans to create advisory councils to give local schools a stronger voice in selecting the food they receive under the school lunch program.

"Advisory councils will inform state educational agencies of local food needs and preferences," she said. "This will provide better information on which to base the Department's yearly decisions to purchase and deliver foods."

School lunch legislation was amended last year to require each state agency to create an advisory council to represent participating schools. Proposed rules published in mid-January in the Federal Register list the required membership, funding sources and functions of the councils.

Kendy's Kollumn

by Kendace Borry

I think I saw Arnold the pig the other day.

No kidding, I pulled into the gas station, got out of my car, and there he was, looking at me eye to eye.

It was sort of a surprise, to say the least.

Actually "Arnold" was standing in the back of a pickup parked on the other side of the pumps. As there were no racks on the sides of the truck, he was free to gaze at the world, and that included sizing me up.

I guess I passed, I could swear he smiled at me.

While I was still standing there in shock, Arnold's owner came out, simply hopped in his truck and drove off. The hog simply braced himself to the forward motion of the truck, grunted his goodbyes to me, and continued watching the scenery zooming by.

Coming to my senses, I said to the man beside me, "Was that really a hog in the back of that truck?"

He assured me that it indeed was a hog, and for the life of him, he couldn't figure out either why that hog didn't jump out of that open-aired pen.

But I know why he didn't jump out. Arnold the pig would be just too intelligent to do a dumb thing like that.

Ida's Notebook

Ida Risser

There are several antique magazines and newspapers on the market just now. In the past few years, I've subscribed to some of them. They are interesting for many reasons.

There are illustrations which one can compare to one's own holdings. Then again there are articles on clocks, dishes and furniture. Also written up are pieces on speciality items like paperweights, Chinese porcelain, dolls and flow blue ceramics. There is also the temptation to compare prices.

During the 1950's when I went to a public sale, I had very little money to spend. So I'd buy small articles that struck my fancy. One such item was a very small brown crockery. Now it couldn't be touched for ten times the price paid then. Things like rag carpet and quilts have also risen in price many times over. For many years they were simply stored away but more recently, I've begun to display and use these things.

I've always been interested in coverlets and last year I bought a newly published book which lists the weavers of many of these 1800 bedspreads. I was amazed to discover that 69 of them lived and worked in Lancaster County.

Between 1825 and 1875 these coverlets were produced on Jacquard looms. These decorative textiles used animals, buildings, flowers, sunbursts and humans in their design. Some were blue and white, some red and white, while others combine red, white, blue and green in a heavy wool and cotton "coverlid" as they were sometimes called. These weavers advertised that they would dye your wool using hickory bark, black oak bark, yellow dock, madder, indigo and cochineal, which is a small insect from South America. They also provided the cotton warp and wove a coverlet for the big price of $2.

Today these masterpieces of artistry are starting to bring not three but four figures.

USDA recommends amending Milk Order

NEW YORK, N.Y. - Changes that would assure milk producers of continuing to share in the Middle Atlantic federal milk marketing order's "pool" are proposed in a U.S. Department of Agriculture recommended decision to amend that program.

Herbert L. Forest, dairy official with the Department's Agricultural Marketing Service, said this tentative decision to amend the order is based on a public hearing last October in Philadelphia.

Pooling, Forest said, is a method by which all dairy farmers supplying the market share the higher-valued Class I sales of the market and the lower-priced reserve milk that is used in manufactured dairy products. This is accomplished by combining the class use value of all milk that handlers use and then paying all dairy farmers an average price, regardless of how their milk is used.

The decision recommends reducing the pooling standards for both distributing plants and reserve processing plants and permitting a federation of cooperative associations to operate a pool reserve processing plant. The decision also would increase the number of days' milk production of a producer that may be diverted to nonpool plants when it is not needed for fluid use at a distributing plant.

The decision denies a proposal that would require Middle Atlantic order handlers to pay not less than minimum order prices for milk that is received by transfer from cooperative association supply plants pooled under another federal order.

Complete details on the proposed changes appeared in the Jan. 25 Federal Register, and comments may be filed until Feb. 9. Anyone interested should send their comments, in five copies, to the Hearing Clerk, Rm. 1077-So., USDA, Washington, D.C. 20250, where they may be reviewed by the public.

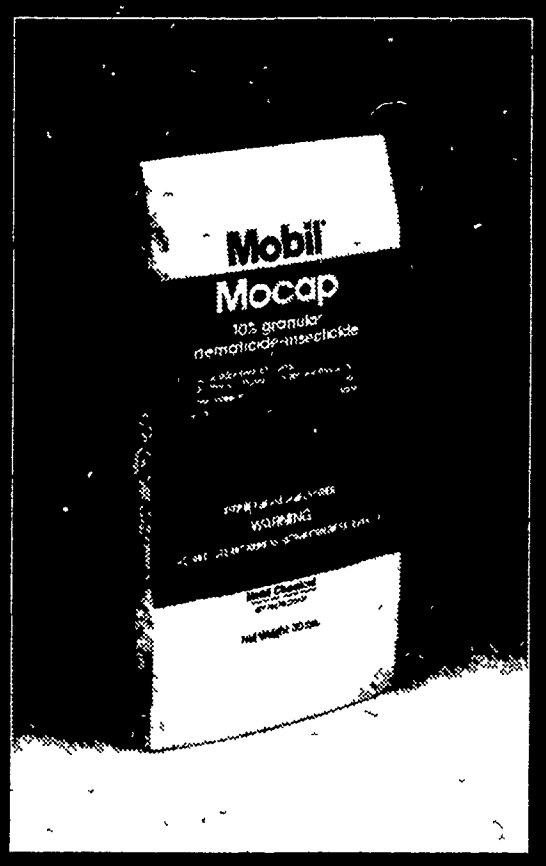
How to protect your corn from cutworms, wireworms, nematodes and rootworms for the least money.



Only one corn insecticide is labeled for protection against the four major soil pests. Only Mocap® insecticide protects against cutworms, wireworms, nematodes* and rootworms

You'd probably expect to pay extra for the extra protection you get with Mocap But according to an independent survey, growers who used Mocap paid less per acre than growers using any other insecticide. That's a lower price per acre, even though Mocap should be used at the rate of 10 pounds per acre on 40-inch rows.

With Mocap 10% granular formulation, you'll get greater surface area coverage and reduced exposure to chemicals. There's also less risk that the insects will escape coverage

University tests have proven that a uniform 7-inch band application is 20 to 30% more effective for rootworm control than an in-furrow treatment.

And better protection means greater potential for increased yields.

Ask your dealer.

Ask the man who can be objective —the man who sells several different kinds of insecticides. He'll tell you that Mocap granular is formulated on clay, not on sand. That means it won't be abrasive to your equipment—and it won't run through the hopper gates like sand. It flows evenly into and out of the hoppers without bridging and without caking on the rotors.

Your dealer can also help you compare the effectiveness, price and easy handling of Mocap to any other insecticide he sells So ask him about Mocap insecticide.

Or just do this. Tell him you want the broadest protection for the least money And see what he gives you.

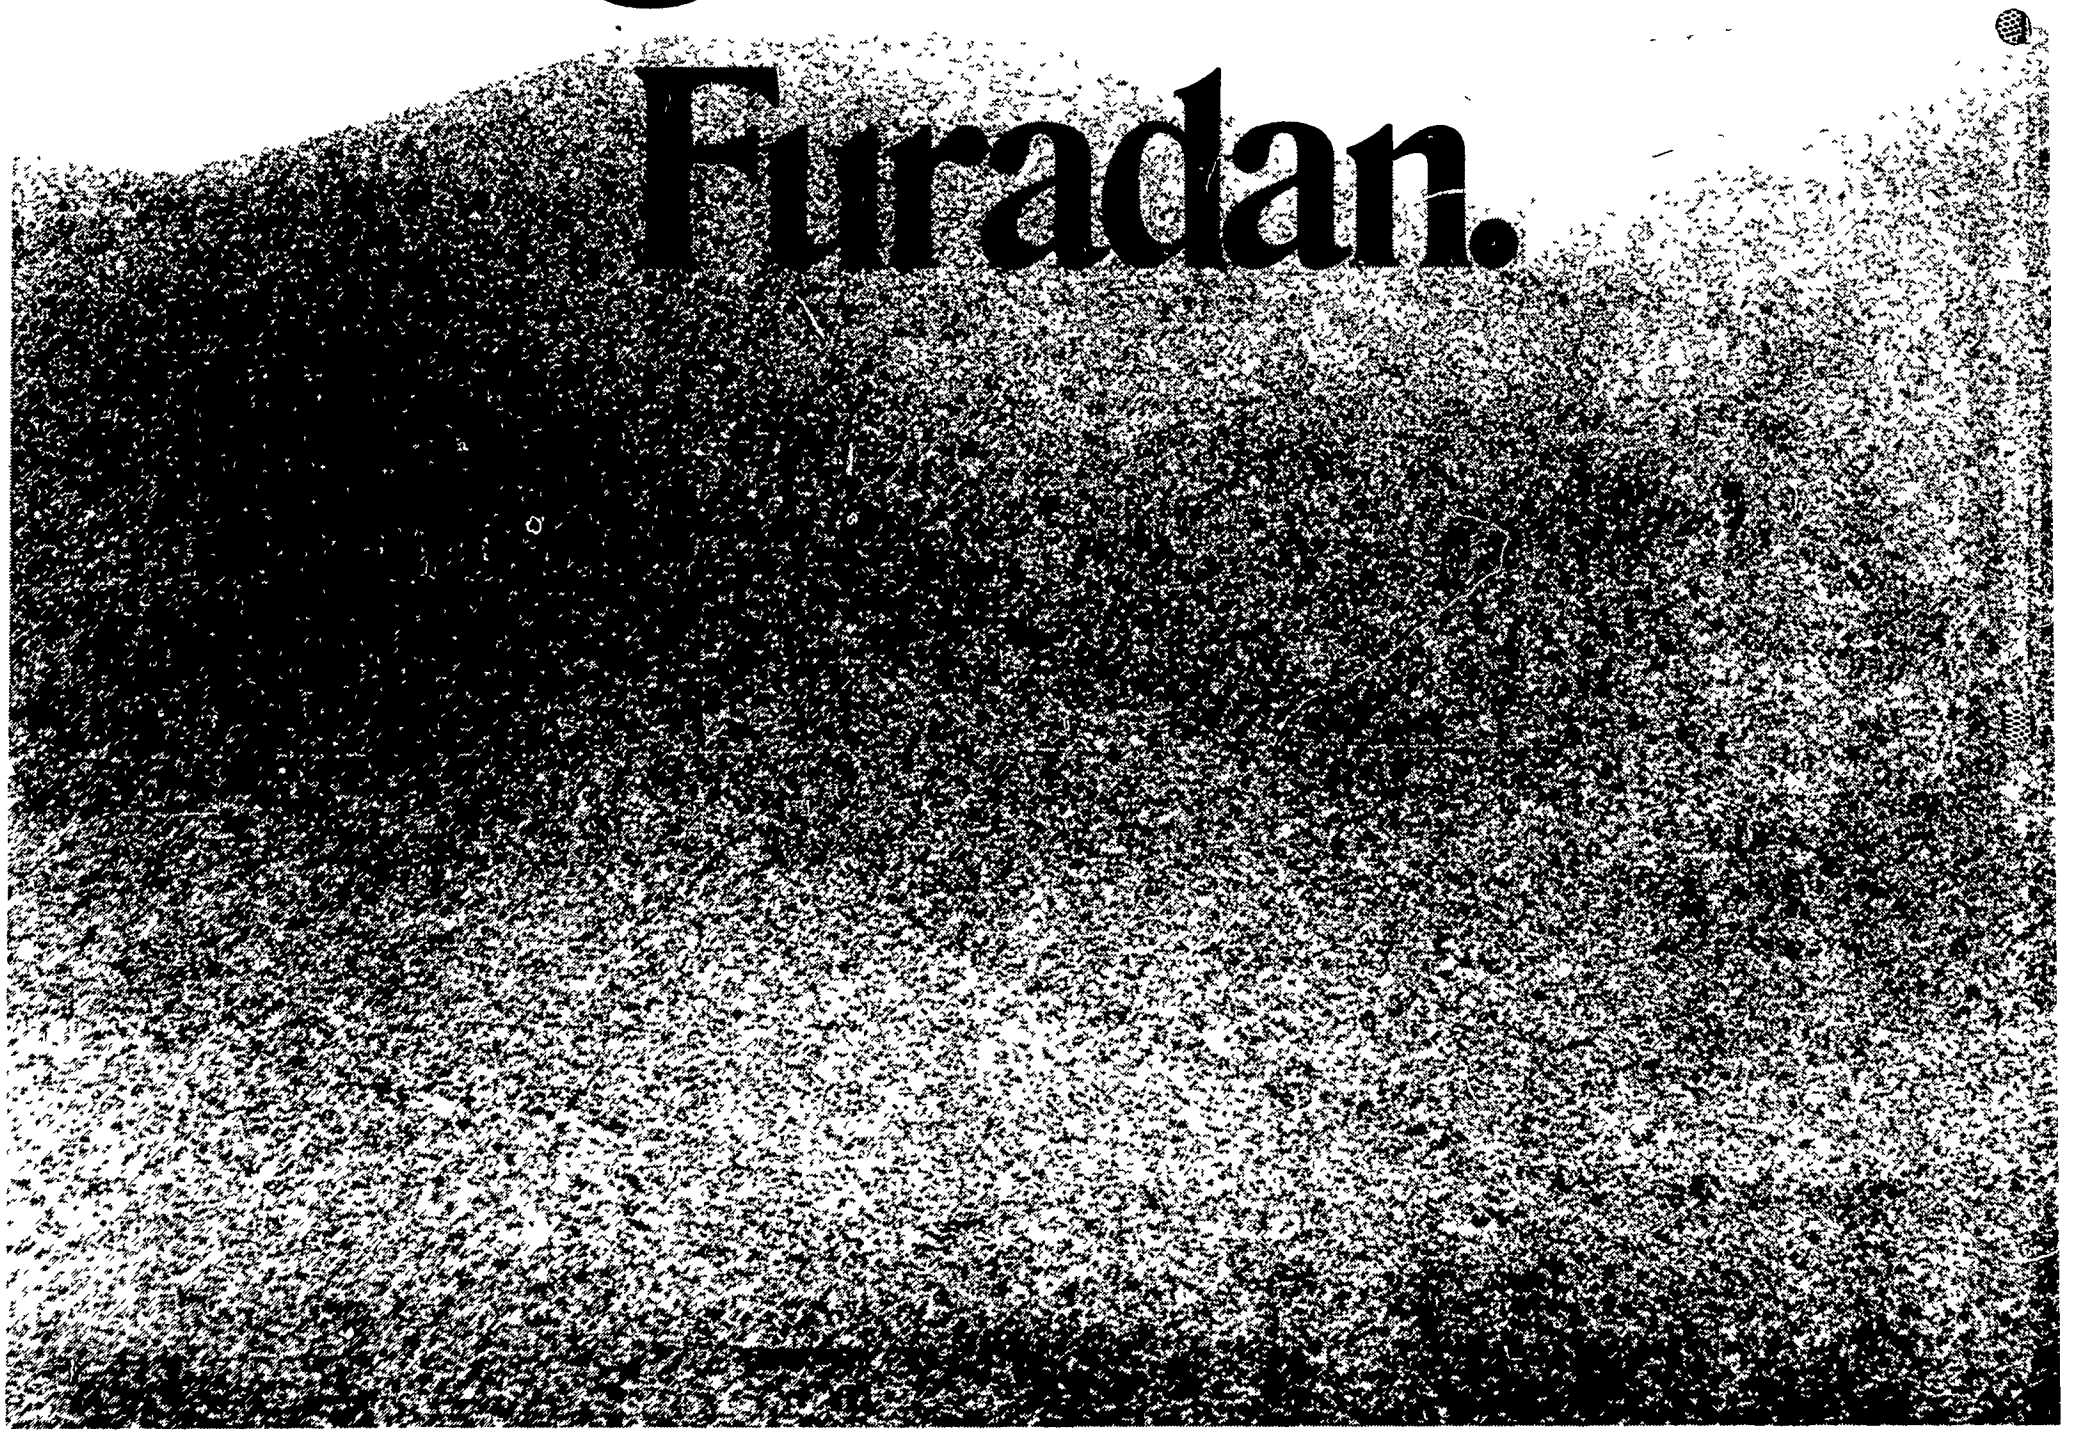
Since 1974 the world corn yield champs have had one thing in common: Furadan.



When you're pushing your corn as high as it'll go, you've got to make every bushel count.

That's why it's no surprise that each of these world champion growers relied on Furadan® insecticide-nematicide to protect his corn.

Why? Because Furadan stops more corn-robbing pests than any other soil insecticide. It not only gets rootworms—it controls nematodes, European corn borers (first generation), Southwestern corn borers, wireworms, armyworms, early-season fall armyworms and flea beetles.

Remember that the timing and rate of application vary with the pest. So be sure to follow label directions.

Of course, we can't promise you'll set a world's record with Furadan. But we can promise you'll stop more corn pests and save more corn. And that's the way to make every bushel count—whether you shoot for 100, 200, or 300 bushels per acre.

Put on Furadan this spring. And see for yourself why the top corn growers in the world depend on Furadan to save their corn.

AFBF urges leaders to get 'vocal on the local'

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. - The President of the Kansas Farm Bureau, John Junior Armstrong, urged County Farm Bureau leaders recently to get "vocal on the local" and have more impact on local government affairs.

Armstrong presided over the local governmental affairs conference held at the 60th annual meeting of the American Farm Bureau Federation (AFBF) in Miami Beach.

"Farm Bureau members are concerned about the need for more involvement in local government affairs. We must get our message across to local governments," Armstrong said. "And the leadership must come from local county Farm Bureaus."

He said the state Farm Bureau must work at the state level; the American Farm Bureau must work at the national level; and the county Farm Bureau must become more active at the local level of government.

"Farmers and ranchers can no longer sit by without inputting into local governmental affairs," Armstrong said.

Ken Cheatham, director of local governmental affairs for AFBF, told the conference participants that becoming more active in local government is a good way for a county Farm Bureau to provide more direct service for members at the county level.

"Can you sell a Farm Bureau membership based on what your county is now doing?" Cheatham asked.

"Farm Bureau is opposed to the centralization of the federal government but for the last decade, we in Farm Bureau have been guilty of becoming more centralized. We must return emphasis to the county level. We must identify our county Farm Bureau as a problem solving organization at that level of government," Cheatham said.

The largest body of fresh water in the world is Lake Superior, covering an area of 31,820 square miles.

BRED and GROWN for EASTERN FARMS

JOIN A WINNER!

Jeffrey Pontius, a Northumberland Co. farmer, recorded the highest yield in the 1978 Pa. 5 Acre Corn Club, the official Pa. contest sponsored by the Extension Service. The Pontius record of 239.2 bu. dry shelled corn per acre is the highest ever checked in the statewide contest which started in 1947, 10 bu. better than the previous high!! Pontius plants Doebler's hybrids and got his all-time record contest yield with DOEBLER'S 70X, a 110 day super single cross hybrid. Pontius had contest yields of 175 bu. in 1977 and 162 bu. in 1976, also with Doebler's 70X.

'78 Research Report

Doeblers planted 8276 rows of new research pedigrees in 7 eastern locations. In addition 1120 hybrid numbers were planted in 160 farm strip tests!! It was an excellent year for research and many new superior combinations were selected for possible future release.

Doebler's Hybrids, Inc. is a family operated seed business started 42 years ago. The main farm and production area is located in Pennsylvania's Clinton County near Lock Haven. In 1978 Doeblers planted 1400 acres of seed corn at their Pennsylvania location and 900 additional acres in the mid-west. Hybrid seed corn sales have steadily increased thru the years to a point now where between 450,000 and 500,000 acres of eastern corn fields are planted with Doeblers. Farmer users particularly like the adaptability, the high quality seed, the 56 lbs. bags, the comparative test results, and the realistic prices of Doeblers. If these things interest you, contact one of Doebler's 312 dealers for details and prices.

— MEDIUM AND FULL SEASON HYBRIDS —

83X-A SINGLE CROSS - 118 DAYS

All you 83X fans will be happy about this one!! Ear height has been lowered, the stalk very much improved, and yields boosted. Tests of the new 83X-A single cross have been exciting and this hybrid has Doebler's highest recommendation. Has been outstanding in Delaware and Maryland Tests.

78X SINGLE CROSS - 114 DAYS

An all new upright leaf hybrid with fantastic yield potential, 78X in plots in 1975 broke the 200 bu. dry shelled barrier with yields of 253.8 bu. and 248.4 bu. Look for a good sized plant, a good stander and a larger than usual ear. Try planting at slightly reduced populations and watch the super hybrid 78X perform.

70X SINGLE CROSS - 110 DAYS

New in '73, 70X is Doebler's most popular 700 maturity hybrid. Expect high yields, fast dry down and a hard cob for picker shelling. Fits especially well as an early corn in full season areas. Has dark green, rank appearance. Hybrid used to win '78 Pa. 5 Acre Corn Contest with a record 239.2 bu. yield!!

80X SINGLE CROSS - 115 DAYS

A super hybrid, 80X is the straight single of the modified 800-3 way. It is very uniform, has an ideal ear type and is protected with multigene blight resistance. An excellent stander. This is a difficult hybrid for us to produce, but is something very special when farmer planted. Check comparative tests on this one!!

76X SINGLE CROSS - 112 DAYS

This new single cross hybrid is a real winner, both for yield and stand-up. For 3 years it has excelled in tests in Pennsylvania and Maryland. Does very well as a medium season hybrid in a long season area If you want an excellent overall performer -- try 76X in '79!!

800-3 WAY - 115 DAYS

800-3 way is outstanding in yield, stand-up and tolerance to thick planting and drought. Look for a close attached ear of substantial length and girth. 800-3 is a modified single cross which partly explains its longtime super performance in comparison with singles.

Angus cattle auction prices up sharply in 1979

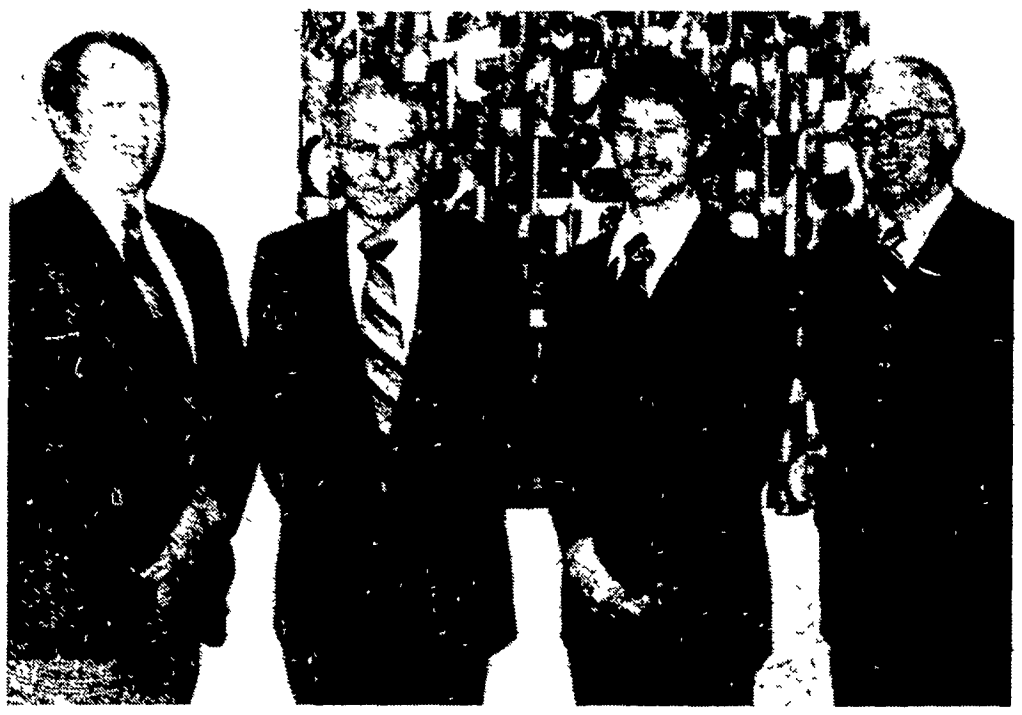
ST. JOSEPH, Mo. - Prices paid at auction for registered Angus cattle were up sharply in December, pushing the average price paid for both bulls and heifers to near record highs for the first quarter of the 1979 Angus Association fiscal year, reports Dr. C.K. Allen, executive vice president of the American Angus Association.

Registrations and transfers at the American Angus Association were also higher for the first three months of the 1979 fiscal year compared with 1978, Allen reported. Pushed by large increases in December, total registrations for the first three months hit 90,627 head compared with 87,717 in 1978. Transfers were 42,835 head in 1979 compared with 38,455 a year earlier.

For the first three months of the year Angus bulls sold at auction have averaged $1452 compared with $977 for the first three months of the 1978 fiscal year.

Heifer prices have shown the most dramatic increase in the past 12 months indicating a return to herd rebuilding. For the first three months of fiscal 1979 the average price paid for all females sold at auction was $1009, compared with an average of only $634 a year earlier. The overall average for cattle sold at auction was $1117, up sharply from the $729 average of a year earlier.

The strength of the market for registered Angus is also indicated by the fact that the higher price averages were made at more auction sales and on a larger number of cattle than last year. For the first three months of this fiscal year there have been 159 auctions that included 9577 head of females and 3101 head of bulls. A year earlier only 122 auction sales had been reported that sold 6921 females and 2671 head of bulls. The total amount of money spent at auction for registered Angus cattle during the first three months of the fiscal year was well over $14 million. For the same period a year ago less than $7 million dollars had changed hands.



1979 officers for the Cumberland County Agriculture and Home Economics Association were re-elected to serve again last Thursday night at the association's annual meeting held at the South Middleton Firehall, Boiling Springs. The officers include left to right, vice president, Eugene Miller, Carlisle; treasurer, Raymond Sawyer, Jr., Lemoyne; president, Mark Naugle, Carlisle; secretary, Dale Bower, Mechanicsburg. In addition to the elections, The Extension staff presented "Extension Highlights" and the Heishman Family entertained the group with several Gospel selections.

Longwood Gardens to present horticultural lectures

KENNETT SQUARE - Six nationally known horticultural authorities are featured in the 1979 Wednesday Evening Lecture Series to be held at Longwood Gardens, Kennett Square, Pa., from February 7 through March 14. The weekly programs begin at 8 p.m. in the main conservatory ballroom. Adult admission is $2.

William Mitchell, assistant professor of landscape architecture at the University of Maine, will open the series on Wednesday evening, February 7. His presentation is entitled "Personalized Gardens in the Maine Landscape," emphasizing design and construction details.

"Growing Orchids in the Home" will be presented by Merritt Huntington on February 14. In his talk, Huntington will attempt to dispel the myth that orchids are only for the specialist. He will discuss which orchids are best for windowsills and light gardens as well as how to care for them.

Guest lecturer for February 21 will be Bill Hixon, a nationally known designer who has taught throughout the United States and Europe. The lecture-demonstration, entitled "Spring Potpourri," will take as its inspiration the beauty of Spring and a visit to Longwood's four acres of conservatories.

The fourth lecture in the series is scheduled for February 28. Dr. Russell J. Seibert, Director of Longwood Gardens for the past 24 years, will speak on "Tropicals–To Have Fired Man's Imagination." Seibert will speak on the economic and esthetic value of tropical plants.

Dr. Michael Dirr will speak on March 7. His program, "Plant Odyssey," is a travelogue on selected botanical and display gardens showing some outstanding plants and how they change throughout the year.

The final lecture of the series is on March 14. Albert Bussewitz, former director of the Rocky Nell Nature Center in Milton, Ma., will present "Through the Seasons with Thoreau." By juxtaposing New England scenes with written excerpts, Bussewitz will bring to life Thoreau's journals.

Visitors to each lecture will be able to see greenhouses filled with blooming acadias, spring bulbs, orchids, and exotic tropical plants. During February, a special exhibition of garden photography from around the nation is on display in the Reception Suite. The photography show as well as the conservatories are open from 7 p.m. until one hour after each lecture. Should the schedule speaker be unable to participate for some reason, another topic will be presented by a Longwood staff member.

Longwood Gardens is located on U.S. Route 1, three miles Northeast of Kennett Square, Pa. Daily hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. For information, telephone 215–388-6741.

River planners to meet

Relicensing and review of the Conowingo and Safe Harbor hydroelectric projects are among items on the agenda. The Commission has outlined several issues of concern on the Conowingo project including fish passageways, minimum flow releases, and debris control. The Commission will also be asked to approve SRBC intervention in the Safe Harbor Dam relicensing.

Other meeting topics will include discussion of review procedures for groundwater discharge permits, the plan of study for the Special Groundwater Study - Susquehanna River Basin, and water supply management. The Commission is also expected to act on project applications processed since the last Commission meeting.

Yoder tops Mifflin DHIA

LEWISTOWN — Kore Yoder's 47 registered Holstein cows hold the best production average for the December 1978 testing period, according the Mifflin County Cooperative Extension Service. The Yoder herd, which recorded an average of 92 9 per cent cow days in milk, produced 51.5 pounds of milk and 2.14 pounds of butterfat per head daily.

Second was the John Kauffman herd, with an average of 54.5 pounds of milk and 1.97 pounds of butterfat on 54 cows.

Third on the list was Marvin E. Peachey, whose 59 registered Holsteins pumped out an average 47.4 pounds of milk and 1.88 pounds of butterfat per day. Percy Yoder was fourth with 73 Holsteins combining for an average of 46.5 pounds of milk and 1.87 pounds of butterfat per day. Fifth was Moses Zook, who had an average of 50.3 pounds of milk and 1.83 pounds of butterfat on 54 cows. David Spicher matched that performance on butterfat, but his 68 Holsteins were down slightly on milk - 45.4 pounds per day.

The high individual record for milk was recorded by Eve, a 5-year old registered Holstein in the Percy S. Yoder herd. She produced 23,370 pounds of milk and 763 pounds of butterfat. The crown in butterfat production went to Louis S. Peachey, Jr., whose No. 50 checked in with 18,315 pounds of milk and 877 pounds of butterfat. No. 50 is a 7-year old Holstein.

In all, more than 125 cows on Mifflin County DHIA turned in lactation records in December 1978 which exceeded 600 pounds of butterfat.

Pa. Grape production up 92%

HARRISBURG-- Pennsylvania's 1978 grape production is estimated at 57,500 tons, up 92 per cent from the 1977 crop of 30,000 tons, according to the Pennsylvania Crop Reporting Service. The 1978 figure is 1500 tons below the 1976 record crop.

The Erie County grape belt was in full bloom June 19 compared to June 6 in 1977. The 1977-78 winter vine kill was above average but no Spring damage was incurred.

Although precipitation was not consistant this past Summer, a good quality crop was harvested in late September and early October.

The value of utilized grape production in the state in 1978 was $13.34 million, almost twice the value of the 1977 figure of $6.85 million.

The price per ton of Pennsylvania grapes was $232 in 1978, compared to $231 in 1977 and $168 in 1976.

United States grape production in 1978 totaled 4.18 tons, down three per cent from 1977. The decline is attributed to a small crop in California.

Dr. Glen Shaw, on the left, congratulates York County's new Apple Queen, Kathy Boyd. Kathy was crowned by outgoing county and state winner, Sandy Markey.

York Co. Apple Queen

RED LION - The York County Fruit Growers held their annual banquet Saturday, January 28 at Rutter's Restaurant.

Highlight of the evening program was the crowning of the county's new apple queen. Selected for the honor is Kathy Boyd, eighteen-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cooper Boyd, Susquehanna Orchards, Delta.

A 1978 honor graduate of Kennard-Dale, Kathy is majoring in business as a freshman at Gettysburg College. While in high school she received the Arion Award, presented to the outstanding senior in the orchestra.

Accomplished musician on both the cello and the piano, Kathy won the Gold Cup at competition held by the Maryland Federation of Music Club. She presented a piano selection during the crowning festivities, presided over by last year's county winner and Pennsylvania Apple Queen, Sandy Markey, York R8.

The lovely, dark-haired queen will represent York fruit growers at the state Apple Queen contest, scheduled for February 6 at the Hershey Convention Center in conjunction with the 120th annual meeting of the state's Horticultural Association.

IS OXYGEN CONTROLLED

*WHAT IS AN "ENERGY–PAK" OXYGEN CONTROLLED FEED STORAGE SYSTEM?

The "Energy-Pak" "Oxygen Controlled" Storage System includes a solid, steel reinforced concrete wall with a tough epoxy coating on the inside wall and a cone shaped concrete roof All access openings to the Silage Storage area are round and fitted with air-tight gaskets These round openings are easily clamped tight These features help to control and limit the amount of oxygen that comes in contact with the feed

In operating an "Energy-Pak", prime importance is placed on closing the silo after each filling and feeding operation Proper use of this system significantly reduces the oxygen content in the silo and results in a more ideal condition for maintaining the quality of the feed put into it

Pennsylvania has a new honey queen

By PEGGY FRAILEY
Lititz Record-Express
Editor

LITITZ — Pennsylvania has a new Bee Queen, 20-year old Barbara Graybill from Lititz, the first state Honey Queen from Lancaster County in at least 15 years.

The Warwick High School graduate, who was named queen at Pennsylvania's Honey Queen Pageant last November, takes over her duties today (Thursday).

As the official promoter of honey for the state, she will be making appearances at grand openings, Ag Progress Days, and town fairs throughout the county and state.

She'll be booked for numerous speaking engagements during the year. In January of 1980, her final month as state queen, she will appear at the Farm Show in Harrisburg and will also become a contestant for the American Honey Queen title.

It's all fun and exciting to Barbara, who volunteered as the Lancaster County Beekeepers' candidate for the crown because she likes people and enjoys meeting new ones.

And Barbara has no small knowledge about bees. Her family keeps two hives, and although it's basically a hobby for them, Barb has been around bees since she was seven.

"I don't ever remember being afraid of them," she says, describing the veil, elbow-length gloves, shirt, long pants, and occasionally boots that she wears to help tend the hives.

She's been stung a few times, but this hasn't deterred her interest.

One reason she still works with the hives is that she likes the honey.

She puts it on her ice cream, on peanutbutter sandwiches, on her cereal, and if she's really hungry, she'll eat a spoonful of plain honey.

"Honey is the only unrefined sweetener you can buy," she says, extolling the virtues of the sweet, sticky stuff most of us see only in jars.

"It's easier to control your weight if you use honey, because your body won't produce as many fat cells as it does with sugar." (She's going to make a marvelous honey salesperson!)

"And you don't need as much honey as you do sugar for the same amount of sweetening," she says.

Barb has been cooking with honey—and winning prizes for it—since she was 10 years old and won third prize in a state competition with a chocolate cake made with honey.

Lancaster County has an annual baking contest, and in 1978 Barb was first prize winner, again with a chocolate cake she made with honey.

The state beekeepers hold a baking contest every year at a summer meeting - in 1978 Barb won the Sweepstakes (top award) and also first prize in the cake division, this time with a spice cake she makes with honey.

Barbara, who is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Edward Graybill, 432 W. Orange St., Lititz, has been involved in numerous musicial activities since her school days. She sings in the St. Paul Lutheran Church choir, plays the piano at Lititz Lions Club meetings, and was accompanist for the Glee Club while at Warwick. She also enjoys sewing, hiking, and camping, in addition to her baking.

She is the new secretary for the Lancaster County Beekeepers, the organization that sponsored her for the state title.

A 1976 graduate of Warwick High School, she is now employed as an accounts receiveable clerk at Manheim Belting.

Following is Barb's recipe for her prize-winning Honey Spice Cake, and also a recipe for cookies she makes with honey:

Barbara Graybill of Lititz will take over this month as Pennsylvania's 1979 Honey Queen. (Record Express Photo)

Honey Spice Cake

1 cup shortening
2 cups honey
2 eggs, well beaten
1 cup sour milk
4 cups flour
2 tsp. soda
2 tsp. cinnamon
1 tsp. nutmeg
½ tsp. cloves
½ tsp. ginger

Cream shortening and honey. And eggs. Sift flour twice and add soda, spices. Gradually add milk and dry ingredients alternately into creamed mixture. Pour into well greased 9 x 12-inch loaf pan. Bake at 350 degrees for one hour or until done.

Honey Chippers

½ cup butter
½ cup honey
1 egg
1¼ cup sifted flour
½ tsp. baking soda
½ tsp. salt
½ tsp. vanilla
1 cup chocolate chips
½ cup chopped nuts

Cream butter and honey. Add eggs and beat well. Sift together dry ingredients and add to creamed mixture. Blend well. Add vanilla. Fold in chocolate chips and nuts. Drop by teaspoonfuls onto a greased cookie sheet. Bake at 375 degrees for 12-15 minutes. Makes 3 dozen.

Horses need special care in Winter

FLEMINGTON, N.J. – As the wind drops a 25 degree temperature to a wind-chill of zero or less, as has been the case recently, and as ice or snow covers much of the ground, equine friends needs some special consideration, say experts.

The horse's basic needs include feed, clean water, adequate shelter, frequent grooming, health care and exercise. The low temperatures, ice and snow conditions alter those needs, but doesn't eliminate any of them.

The need for shelter is clear. He should have protection from wind and draft, the stall should be dry and well-bedded. That may be difficult with all the moisture we have had but is important in keeping the animal comfortable.

Grooming has a number of advantages. Cleaning the hair and the hide is the most obvious. But the personal contact involved is also important, especially if you haven't been handling him very much.

Exercise is an essential for horses of any age and any disposition. This may be difficult these days. It is good to have a small turn-out paddock available for exercise, but, he should be watched on blustery days. He should have access to the barn, or at least brought in before he gets chilled.

Winter feeding needs are also somewhat different from other seasons. The horse generally gets less exercise in Winter than during showing or heavy riding seasons. Winter is a time when many horse owners allow their animals to become too fat. This is not only unsightly, but is also damaging to the animal's health.

A mature, idle horse must, however, have feed to produce heat to maintain body temperature, energy for normal internal processes and movement, and a small amount of protein for new growth and body tissue repair.

The wintering horse does not have pasture available so hay must take over that portion of the animal's diet. If corn is available supplement about 30 per cent of the concentrate diet with corn and this will provide the horse with extra "energy" for warmth. Corn may also be fed on the cob. Corn on the cob is a treat for horses, providing them with additional chewing action which they seem to enjoy.

A good quality grass-legume mixed hay should be fed as the basic roughage.

Water is still the most important and cheapest nutritient in the horse's diet. We find that a horse drinks approximately eight to twelve gallons of water a day no matter what the thermometer reads. The water bucket should be cleaned out and filled with fresh water twice a day.

Solar grain drying systems evaluated

By LAUREL SCHAEFFER
Staff Correspondent

LEESPORT - "Heat does not dry grain!" stated Ike Steinhauer of Bernville. It's the relative humidity coupled with the temperature that most significantly affects the costs and time required in grain drying, he related.

Steinhauer was one of several speakers addressing a group of approximately 50 area farmers interested enough to brave the torrential rains of January 24th to attend a meeting on solar grain drying. The meeting, sponsored by the ASC committee and Cooperative Extension Service of Berks County, featured Joseph McCurdy, agricultural engineering specialist, Penn State University; Ivan Z. Martin, representative of Martin Distributors, Lebanon; and Elwood Steinhauer III, Berks County Farmer.

Steinhauer had investigated the costs and practicality of setting up a solar grain drying system for his own use and related his findings to the interested gathering of farmers. McCurdy discussed and evaluated the various ways solar energy has been applied to a grain drying system, and Martin related some of his practical experiences with using solar energy in grain drying systems and presented slides of several systems in use.

All men agreed that using this method to dry grain is the most critical and no one should attempt it unless they know what they are doing. Martin also mentioned that a back-up system should also be available to anyone attempting to use solar energy. "When you need the solar energy the most is when the system is working the least efficiently," explained Steinhauer.

While reviewing the various ways grain is dried, McCurdy immediately eliminated the use of solar energy in high speed-high temperature grain drying. A collector the size of an acre would be needed for even a moderately sizes system, he said. This would be very expensive and a back-up source of heat or energy storage facility would be needed.

However, solar energy grain drying can be fitted into an in-storage drying system. Here, air flow is the key to the drying process. Low temperatures are maintained and the grain is either dried in layers or in full bins over a longer period of time, usually 4 to 10 weeks.

Safe storage time has to be watched carefully with this type of system however, cautioned McCurdy as he exhibited a chart showing various time intervals corn can be stored when it is at certain moisture levels and temperatures. At fifty degrees Fahrenheit, for example, corn at 22 per cent moisture can only be stored about 30 days before mold could be expected to start growing, but at 15 per cent moisture the corn could be safely stored for 492 days before there was any sign of mold.

In this type of system McCurdy advised the use of 1 cubic foot of air movement per minute for every bushel of corn at 20 per cent moisture. But accompanied with a small amount of heat, which could be derived from a solar energy system, the natural air flow could be reduced by 10 to 15 per cent.

A solar grain drying system of this nature where low temperature rises are used would only require simple inexpensive collectors. The grain would supply the energy storage for nights and cloudy days, McCurdy said.

Three types of solar energy collectors were described and shown from slides by the Penn State specialist. They included collectors built onto two-thirds or three-fourths of the bin sides, leaving the north side empty since the sun would not reach collectors there.

Placing collectors on the roofs of adjacent buildings such as a poultry house or machine shed and using the attic space as a collector was another method discussed. Here, the air from the attic is hogs that look healthy can lose more money than one like this:

The respiratory complex is a major cause of "hidden" disease losses. Hogs may appear healthy, but many can be fighting off disease and losing efficiency.

Pneumonia is a key factor in the respiratory disease complex. But it's often brought on by atrophic rhinitis. Atrophic rhinitis is an infection in the hog's snout. By damaging the air passageway — which normally filters out dust and bacteria — atrophic rhinitis opens the door for pneumonia.

Tylan® Plus Sulfa is the only feed additive cleared for both atrophic rhinitis and pneumonia. It has proved its ability to treat pneumonia, and to maintain weight gains and feed efficiency in the presence of atrophic rhinitis. That's why we recommend it

Scientists launch study on beef cholesterol

COLUMBIA, Mo. – A study to find out if beef is getting a fair shake by the American Heart Association (AHA) has been launched at the University of Missouri - Columbia.

"The AHA says you risk blood cholesterol buildup if you eat beef more than three times a week," said Dr. Margaret Flynn, the professor of family and community medicine and human nutrition who is in charge of the project. "The six-month study involving 240 men and women is designed to show whether the AHA dictum is appropriate."

Key to the study will be 120 UMC faculty men who are part of Dr. Flynn's long-term health-nutrition study.

"We have data on some of these guys for 10 years." she said. "Many of them have participated in our egg studies which showed that eating as many as two eggs a day for three months had no effect on serum cholesterol in those men who have the genetic ability to handle cholesterol.

"Since at least seven out of eight people have this genetic ability, our studies showed that eggs were generally getting a bad rap by being labeled a 'risk' food.

"With our new study, we will try to see if the same thing is true with beef."

In addition to the 120 male faculty, the project also will include 120 women (there wives in most cases)).

"Women have not been used before in our cholesterol studies," said Dr. Flynn," "so this will give us a chance to show if they behave the same as men on these diets.

"The men and women in our study will be committing themselves for six months," said Dr. Flynn. "For three months, they will be given at least five ounces of beef to eat daily. Then, for another three months, they will eat at least five ounces of chicken, turkey and/or fish daily.

"In the three months when they eat beef, they may eat more beef than is given to them, but they may not use other meats or fish. In the three months when they use chicken-fish, they may not use any other meat but may eat more than the five ounces of chicken, turkey or fish.

"They will also consume one whole egg a day, no more or less, during the entire six months." (This requirement is made basically to control egg consumption.)

"During the study, they will eat their usual diets except for the meat and fish restrictions and the compulsory egg. They may not lose or gain more than two pounds during the study and will continue their usual lifestyles of exercise, etc. They will keep records of their dietary intake."

The study is a cooperative effort between UMC's Colleges of Agriculture, and Home Economics and School of Medicine. Dr. Georgia Nolph, M.D., who is one of the co-investigators, will give each subject a physical exam and an electrocardiogram. The subjects will have their body fat estimated, and they will be assessed three times for serum cholesterol and triglycerides.

Donald Naumann, chairman of the UMC department of food science who is a collaborator in the research, will check meat quality to make sure that each person consumes the same amount of beef fat.

As part of her concern about cholesterol and health. Dr. Flynn is currently involved in a study to see what effect stress has on serum cholesterol. In that project, young medical students are being studied for six months with special consideration during final exams – a time of "acute stress," Dr. Flynn said.

"All of the students are eating controlled diets," she said.

"We want to see if serum cholesterol rises under stress and if that cholesterol level is further increased if you are consuming a diet that includes two eggs a day."

ducted over to the bin. A third method attracting some attention is the use of a portable, inflatable collector which is placed on the ground, these usually have an auxiliary fan, explained McCurdy.

McCurdy cautioned the farmers to watch their investment return, however, since the cost of setting up one of these systems may outweigh the advantages of the free energy, once the system is in operation. He also mentioned that corn moisture content should not be above 19 per cent when put into one of these bins to dry, and stressed 21 per cent at the absolute maximum moisture level.

The agricultural engineer also cautioned about over do it," he stated, "then solar energy will over dry it." There is no reason to take corn below 14 or 15 per cent moisure McCurdy explained. "Anything above this moisture level is under dried and anything below is over dried," he explained.

Poor management was blamed as the major problem facing many natural air drying bins in this area at present. "The big secret, he said, "is adequate cooling."

McCurdy also mentioned that the proper placing of solar energy collectors on bins could also effect and limit the locations of bins and bin set-ups. He advised the area farmers to consider other grain drying systems before making an investment and warned them to watch for their justifiable costs.

Relating his investigation into building a solar energy drying system, Ike Steinhauer concluded that this type of system was not for him. "Look at the total bushels of grain you harvest," he advised his fellow farmers, "your harvest rate and the amount you want to dry before making a decision on the type of grain drying system you would like.

Steinhauer told the group that he feels solar grain drying is not suited for anyone with over 25,000 bushels of corn to dry or anyone who already has a drying system.

William Baumgartner, ASCS district director, also addressed the gathering to explain the ASCS loan program available to eligible farmers for grain storage and drying systems.

Presently Berks and Bucks County farmers are eligible for 7 per cent interest loans for solar energy grain drying systems as well as other facility loans which are available for silo and other types of grain drying systems.

Congress blasted at Farm Bureau convention

MIAMI, Fla. – President Allan Grant blasted Congress for consistently exempting themselves from many of the laws they enact for others in a speech made recently in Miami to the American Farm Bureau Federation members at their 60th, Annual Convention. The American Farm Bureau Federation now has a membership of 3,076,867 family members.

According to Grant, there is evidence that farmers need effective representatives more now than ever before. In our churches spiritual faith and a belief in God are often relegated to the background, as church leadership pursues secular goals. Churches become so concerned for physical welfare and support for federal welfare programs that they forget their main purpose and concern for the welfare of the soul.

Grant said that Church leadership and church members who support government medicine and ever expanding welfare programs of all kinds are helping create inflation, which is a special horror of the aged and the widowed. Many decisions by church officials are made from a base of ignorance. Most times reasonable alternatives are not presented and as a result of this ignorance church funds are chaneled to Ceasar Chavez and other labor movements, and not to self help incentives of the profit system or to concerns for the welfare of the soul.

"Tax reform and spending limitation is an idea whose time has come", said Allen Grant. He said this would be done by passage of an amendment to the U.S. Constitution, limiting the spending authority of Congress to a realsitic percentage of the gross national product. This amendment should contain a commitment for the orderly reduction of our national debt.

People should register dissatisfaction with the manner in which members of Congress consistently exempt themselves from many of the laws they enact on others. Grant stated for example members of Congress, plus about 17,000 of their employees are exempt from Social Security taxes, so large increases in Social Security taxes have little meaning to them. Members of Congress are exempt from the National Labor Relations Act, the Fair Labor Standards Act, the Civil Rights and Equal Employment Opportunity Act and From the Occupational Safety and Health Act. Members of Congress do not pay state or local income taxes in Maryland, Virginia and the District of Columbia. These are areas where most of them reside, Grant said.

Grant made it clear that the people want a lot less from Congress than they are getting. The American people are more worried about inflation, more supportive of the market system; more concerned about energy, deficit spending, and labor monopolies than Congress is, he contended. The people are not interested in more power to labor unions nor are they interested in massive programs of health care nor any other kind of super regulatory agency.

As the general public becomes aware that difficult spending by the government is inflation's primary cause, citizens will begin to reject political frauds.

Because of the public's concern about inflation and deficit federal spending, there will be indirect approaches to nationalized health care. Grant said that we should stress private care plans and try to prevent a national health care plan.

Grant went on to explain the current examples of how federal spending can turn into federal fraud.

Grant told that people we must get off the federal roadway to regulation. Individual freedom and opportunity must not be sacrificed in a quest for security, he concluded.

Sixteen special interest and commodity conferences were held during the five day Convention in Florida.

Other speakers were Ronald Reagan, former governor of California, Ambassador Robert S. Strauss, special representative for trade negotiations and Richard W. Owens, AFBF secretary.

'Everything is Beautiful' for national winner

By JOYCE BUPP
Staff Correspondent

SPRING GROVE – As last November was drawing to a close, Bonnie Wire stood on a stage in Chicago's Hilton Hotel. She had just been chosen the lone young lady, as well as the only East Coast winner, in the national 4-H photography awards competition.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Wire, Spring Grove R4, Bonnie has been interested in cameras and photography "since I was a little kid." She recalls that her father owned an old 35-mm. camera that he would set and hand to her to aim and shoot.

"And that was big stuff!" she laughs.

Eastman Kodak sponsored the national 4-H photography awards program that sent Bonnie to Chicago to hear her name called out as one of the six national winners.

The annual 4-H Congress brings together top 4-H project winners from all across the country, treating them to a gala week of stimulating speakers, enjoyable top-name entertainers and exciting awards presentations.

In addition of group visits to famous Chicago landmarks, like the towering Sears building, winners take part in activities especially planned for their area of interest. The photography winners toured a color developing lab and had one informal session to critique photos in a rap session.

To fulfill her fourth unit photography project, Bonnie was required to produce a slide show or a display of enlargements. She opted for the slide collection, titling her program of inspiring nature shots, "Everything Is Beautiful."

To accomplish the complete presentation, she taped her own piano accompaniment and then added her own voice readings of inspirational poetry to highlight the photography work.

It was not the first slide presentation that Bonnie had photographed and arranged. Always an avid 4-H promoter, she had produced "4-H Ain't All Cows-Cookin'," a public-relations type show, as well as a dairy month program for her local club which featured dairy project members with their animals.

Other photography skills had to be displayed for the awards which she won at County, Keystone, state and finally, national, levels. There was an album, portrait shots, photo floods and development and enlargement samples.

A 1978 graduate of Spring Grove High School, Bonnie is now a freshman studying communications at York College, with plans to become a career photo-journalist. Although she has been concentrating on writing, the college also offers background courses on radio and television, which she may pursue.

Through a high school careers day program, Bonnie landed her first newspaper job with the Hanover Evening Sun. She's also been a correspondent for the York Sunday News and is presently working assignments for the York Dispatch.

An eight-year member of the Thomasville Community 4-H Club, Bonnie has carried a variety of projects. She has carried a sewing unit each year, along with foods, indoor and outdoor flowers,

Winternationals open the tractor pulling season

HARRISBURG - Coatsville's Harry Griest says there is a good reason why the first major tractor pull competition of the year held in late January is called The Penn Winternationals.

"Last year 21 inches of snow blanketed Harrisburg and this year it was an ice storm," said the 41-year-old tractor puller.

Snow or ice didn't stop Griest from entering three tough events at the first tractor pull of the season sanctioned by the National Tractor Pullers Association. He finished second in the 12,000 lb. Super Stock Open class, fourth in the 9,000 lb. Super Stock competition and sixth in the 12,000 lb. Super Stock Competition.

Griest's entry in the highly competitive Penn Winternationals sponsored by Kendall Oil among others came after a highly successful pulling season at numerous tracks across the country. Only NTPA champions qualified to compete at Harrisburg. Contests to determine those invited were held in 1978 in 10 districts established by NTPA.

And Griest, a dairy farmer, is one of the nation's top pullers. 1978 was a very good year for Griest on the circuit. He won the 9000 lb. Super Stock competition at the Indy Super Pull; finished second in the 12,000 lb. class in NTPA's Region I; and third in the 9000 lb. class in Region I.

Griest and tractor pullers from all over the United States are travelling the country this year to capture points in the race for national point champion along with winning a share of the $1 million plus in purse money.

A variety of classes are run at each tractor pull including super stock, modified with mini tractors, and the four-wheel-drive pick-up truck.

Tractor pulling has been around since about 1929 but has been growing with leaps and bounds in recent years. Couple the state pulls together with NTPA sanctioned events and over 3,000 pullers participate in 500 events before combined crowds of two million spectators.

Field checks recommended before applying spray

By JOYCE BUPP

YORK - "It's a wonder we can grow corn at all," mused one corn grower attending the York County Corn Clinic, which dealt with a variety of pests that assault the popular grain crop.

Corn root worms, Japanese beetles and the European corn borer are three of the crop's worst enemies in Pennsylvania, according to Stan Gesell, an entomologist with Pennsylvania State University. Dubbed "the bug man" by his associates, Gessel is concerned that farmers may frequently jump the gun with pesticide applications that do not pay for themselves at harvest time.

"For heaven's sake," warned Gesell "Don't believe everything you read or hear from the Midwest; our corn worm just is not the pest that it is out there."

According to the specialist, up to 85 per cent of the acres sprayed here for corn root worm probably don't need it, based on the final yield difference between treated and untreated acres.

To determine if infestations are heavy enough to warrant spraying costs, Gesell recommends two separate field checks over the growing season. The first should be made during July to August to determine numbers of larvae present in the crop. Stalks with a "goose neck or sled runner" effect should be pulled for root checks. If roots are half gone, consider it a root worm infestation.

A second check comes in August when the pest is in its mature beetle stage. The quarter-inch yellowish-green beetles feed on the ear pollen and silks, then lay their eggs in the soil at the base of the stalk.

"Count one hundred plants," advises Gesell. "If they average five or more beetles per stalk, then treat the field for control the next year. If less than that, it's a waste of money."

European corn borers become a problem most often in late planted corn, that is still soft and succulent in August. The entomologist advised treating only acres on which 75 per cent of the plants are infected, and then preferably using a granular type insecticide.

Another pest that might turn up during August field checks is the Japanese beetle, which Gesell admits has been a problem in recent years due to unusually wet August weather.

While the hard shiny one-half inch beetle does feed on several hundred types of plants, corn silk is one of the preferred foods. The pest does its damage by feeding off the silk, leaving corn ears with no pollination recipient.

"If the beetles are in the field before half of the plants are in silk, averaging two beetles per ear, spray immediately," says the insect specialist. "But, if you're past the 50 per cent silk stage, you might just as well forget it."

Apple holdings up 34 per cent

HARRISBURG - Pennsylvania apples in cold storage on November 30, 1978 totaled 301.7 million pounds or 7.2 million boxes of 42 pounds each, according to the Pennsylvania Crop Reporting Service. The holdings are up 34 per cent or 77.3 million pounds from a year ago.

More York apples are in storage in Pennsylvania than any other type, at 2.2 million bushels, followed by Rome at 1.2 million bushels. Other apples in storage in the state are Golden Delicious, 1.1 million bushels; Red Delicious, 789,000 bushels; Stayman, 358 million bushels; Jonathon, 146,000 bushels; McIntosh, 74,000 bushels; and other types, 1.4 million bushels.

Apple holdings in the United States on November 30, 1978 totaled 3.22 billion pounds, or 76.7 million bushels, up 15.8 per cent from a year ago.

NEWS FLASH!: Sociologists predict that by the twenty-first century robots will have taken over performing routine household tasks, freeing homemakers from menial hand labor.

It'll be great.

Stretched out on the couch with a good book, I'll look up as my mechanical maid approaches to report.

"Whirrrrrrrrrr, buzzzzzzzzzzz," it will say, as colored lights flash, dials spin, and a computer readout clicks out this list of jobs completed: dishes washed, house cleaned, beds made, laundry clean and put away, cake baked, roast and potatoes in oven.

We'll name it "A1B2" (a cousin to Star War's famous robot R2D2). Surely it won't come cheap, but it'll be worth it.

"Out you go, fella'," I'll advise, pushing buttons to send A1B2 out into cold Winter weather. He'll shovel the snow, salt the ice, empty the trash and sweep the porch before his morning oil break. And I'll sit inside the warm house, watching fat flakes of snow swirl in the cold wind, dreaming of all the things we can do together in warm weather.

It can dig and I'll plant the seeds. It can weed and I'll harvest. It can mow and rake; I'll pick and arrange flowers.

But, you know what? One morning, I'll get up and A1B2 will be gone. I'll ask the farmer when he comes to the house if he's seen my beloved robot.

"Sure, he'll answer. "I've re-programmed it to milk. And I think I've got tools here to adjust it to also scrape out the barn, spray the corn, maybe even feed heifers."

If past history serves me correctly, he'll probably even tear the little motor out of the robot's foot to fix the feeder.

Sigh. Who needs a robot anyway?

USDA seeks public input and suggestions

By JOYCE BUPP
Staff Correspondent

YORK - There is a new awareness and recognition of agriculture in Washington says a congressional liaison with the U.S. Department of Agriculture.

Dennis Gaab gave the afternoon address at the York Agri-Business seminar held January 25 at Avalong Farms restaurant. He works under the nation's Secretary of Agriculture, Bob Bergland, who Gaab credits with instigating new department procedures aimed at making government paperwork easier, better accepted and better understood by the public.

This increasing sensitivity to public sentiment has USDA seeking outside input with alternate suggestions to a variety of problems confronting the agriculture bureau. Each agriculture underagency is now required to seek public recommendations through publication of activities in the Federal Register, press releases to the media, public hearings and contacts with ag-related organizations.

Dennis Gaab: his boss wants to hear from farmers

An Office of Public Participation is now initiating over one thousand proceedings annually for public comment and a "decision calendar" listing hearing schedules is published in the Federal Register during each May and November.

"Our goal is for the public to help us to keep it informed," stressed Gaab. Officials hope that the ultimate outcome of greater public participation in decision making will be less court cases involving the federal government.

One controversial issue for several years has been the Delaney Amendment, a piece of legislation which requires that USDA remove carcinogenic (cancer-causing) materials from all foods.

"Until we reach a point of technology where we know a prescribed level of a substance will cause a known harm, there will be a continuing conflict between regulations and regulatory freedoms," Gaab warned.

He altered the primarily-agriculture audience to two bills newly-introduced in the House of Representatives that deal with the Delaney issue. House Bill 11 would extend the saccharin moratorium from 18 to 36 months, and House Bill 12 would repeal the Delaney clause.

The American Agriculture Movement, which executed the tractorcade into Washington last year and has another underway, is credited by Gaab with forcing Washington lawmakers into thinking about problems facing the nation's farmers. He suggested that peaceful and orderly demonstrations make a more impressive demonstration than shows of force.

Bureaucracy, says the congressional liaison, is not new to any department of government and had actually diminished somewhat before new "social goals" legislation mushroomed during the decade of the 60's. That legislation brought with it a rash of agencies and regulations to implement the social goals of the laws.

Reorganization procedures now threaten to weaken some powers of the USDA by transferring several agencies to other departments. Under proposed structure changes, the Farmers' Home Administration would be transferred into the Department of Housing and Urban Development and the Forest Service would be moved to a resources bureau. These measures are being opposed by major farm organizations.

- Self-cleaning. No holes or crevices to harbor bacteria.

HOW LONG WILL THEY LAST?

First produced in 1975, Tenderfoot was tested in farrowing pens for 1½ years before being marketed These original floors have been in constant use ever since WITH NO APPRECIABLE WEAR! Today's Tenderfoot floors have 6 advantages over the original pieces

1. 3 times more coating.
2. Tougher vinyl coating.
3. Extra-strength steel.
4. Treated to resist bacteria & fungi growth.
5. Improved Perma-Bond processing.
6. Strict quality control.

Constant research, development and quality control continues at the Tenderfoot factory and at the nearby 650-sow operation where the original 1975 Tenderfoot floors are still going strong

How long will a Tenderfoot last? No one knows The very first ones produced have withstood heavy use since 1975 with no appreciable wear. The floors produced today are 6 ways better than the first ones On the basis of these facts it seems safe to say that any concern over the durability of Tenderfoot flooring is unnecessary.

Bergland claims 1978 was one of best years

WASHINGTON, D.C. – Secretary of Agriculture Bob Bergland told the Senate Agriculture Committee last month that 1978 was one of the most prosperous years in recent history for American farmers.

Estimates revised with end-of-year data reveal that for 1978:

– Net farm income was the second highest on record;

– Combined farm and off-farm income resulted in record high total earnings;

– Net worth of farmers as a group increased sharply; and – The increased prosperity was shared widely among geographic regions, types of farms and sizes of farms.

Net farm income for 1978 is now estimated to have been $28.1 billion. This is the second highest annual net farm income on record, exceeding the 1977 level by more than $8 billion, or 40 per cent. While many individual farmers still faced financial difficulties, farm incomes were higher for all major regions of the country and for both crop and livestock producers.

Sharply higher livestock prices combined with heavy crop marketings and higher prices accounted for most of the improved farm income. Crop and livestock prices in the fourth quarter of 1978, in particular, were higher than earlier expected. Government payments to farmers increased from $1.8 billion in 1977 to about $2.8 billion in 1978.

Bergland cautioned that data becoming available over the next several months could result in modest revisions in the 1978 farm income estimates released Jan. 24.

Bergland said he expected farm income for 1979 to be reasonably stable.

In addition to farm income, most farm operator families receive income from off-farm employment and other off-farm sources. This off-farm income reached $31.4 billion in 1977, and was $1 billion to $3 billion higher in 1978.

Farmers' assets – led by higher land values, crop and livestock prices, and crop inventories – increased by more than $80 billion during the year. After adjusting for more farmer borrowing, farmers' net worth increased about $66 billion in 1978. Because of higher cattle prices, the value of the cattle herd alone increased nearly $10 billion.

New energy projects funded

WASHINGTON, D.C. - The Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) has approved two loan guarantees to finance pilot projects that will convert agricultural and forestry products into fuel and other energy sources. This makes a total of three projects contingently approved by CCC.

Current legislation provides for loan guarantees of up to $15 million for a maximum of four pilot energy projects, said Weldon Barton, director of the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Office of Energy.

The projects approved Jan. 12 are:

–A joint venture by subsidiaries of U.S. Sugar Corp. and Savannah Foods Corp., to build a plant in Clewiston, Fla. to convert sugar cane residues to alcohols for industrial use. The project will involve initial pilot and engineering work at Purdue University, followed by construction of a commercial-sized plant at Clewiston.

–A project by Guarantee Fuels, Inc., of Independence, Kan., to build plants in North Carolina that would refine forest and agricultural residues into fuel pellets for direct burning in industrial boilers.

Under a third project, approved Dec. 5, Enerco Inc., Langhorne, Pa., will convert forest and agricultural residues into gas, oil and charcoal for fuel and other uses. This project will involve a number of mobile units located near sources of residues and will provide energy in rural communities. For example, small industries, hospitals and schools could receive fuel from this project.

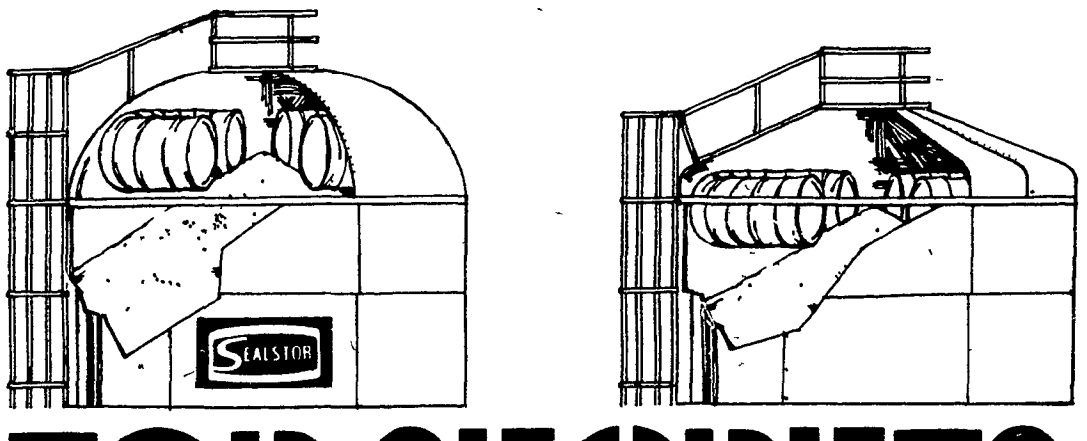
We Rent Most Everything!

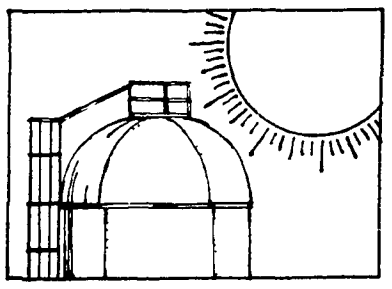
For starters, Sealstor is better at the top.



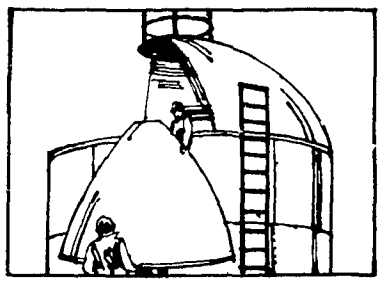
TOP SECRETS

Sealstor superiority starts with the roof. Here's why:

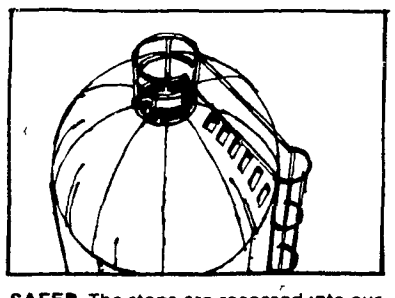
First, the domed shape of our roof provides enough extra room to accommodate the breather bags That gives you more storage space for feed Extra capacity Extra value It's that simple And the Sealstor storage advantage doesn't stop there We've engineered an efficient distributor into the top of our structure That means the forage going in will mix evenly throughout, regardless of particle weight or size This usually results in approximately 15% greater density of forage stored in a Sealstor In short, with Sealstor, you get as much as 15% more feed capacity from every cubic foot of storage space you buy. That's savings That s economy That's Sealstor And that isn't all



COOLER The Sealstor roof is insulating heat-reflecting fiber glass Not heat-absorbing steel It keeps the contents cooler It reduces the breather bag workload That's maximum efficiency



TIGHTER Our roof panels are strong and tough They re larger too So our roof requires fewer panels seams and bolts There s less chance of leakage That s superior engineering



SAFER The steps are recessed into our roof Not added on That makes them feel solid because they are solid Sealstor delivers extra safety extra stability extra quality

PRESERVE THE WORLD S BEST FEED IN THE WORLD S FINEST STRUCTURES NATURALLY!

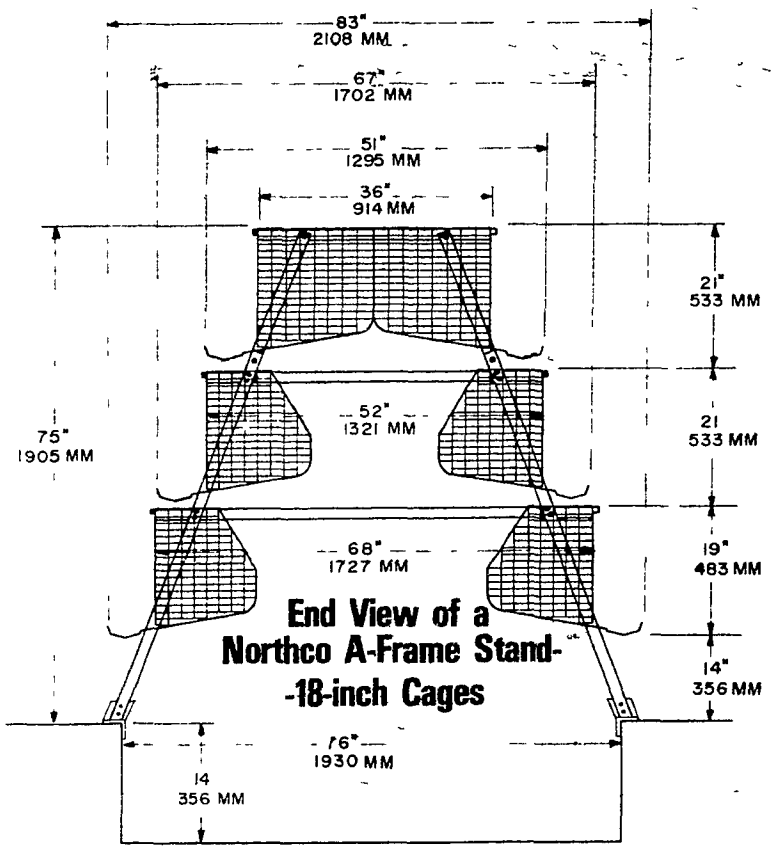
NORTHCO Slant-Back Cage Laying System



End View of a Northco A-Frame Stand--18-inch Cages

IT'S A TOTAL SYSTEM

Combine the Slant Back System with NORTHCO Cage Feeding, Ventilation, Egg Gathering and Manure Handling Systems and you have a total system engineered to provide efficiency and dependable performance.

HIGH DENSITY . . . LOW PROFILE

Northco's Slant-Back System is the simple way to increase profits by cutting building costs and increasing bird densities

HIGH DENSITY - Using Northco's 18-inch (45.7 cm.) deep cages, forty thousand birds easily fit into a 40-foot (12.2 m.) wide house with a 420-foot (123 m.) long cage row Systems with 16-inch (40.6 cm.) deep cages are even more compact. Either way the total height of the cage row is only 75-inches (191 cm.).

NO DROPPING BOARDS OR DROPPING BOARD SCRAPERS - Vinyl dropping shields on the slanted cage backs deflect manure into the pit. Manure on the shields dries and flakes off into the pit without build-up.

WELL VENTILATED - Northco's Roof Exhaust Ventilation System provides every bird on every deck the fresh air needed to minimize stress and increase production.

DO YOU KNOW AND UNDERSTAND THE DIFFERENCES BETWEEN GRAIN CONDITIONING AND CHILL CURING?

1. Grain conditioning is simply the method of removing moisture from grain by forcing unheated air through it. Chill curing is the same method with the addition of light bulbs in the air stream.
2. Both the initial investment cost and operating costs for the grain conditioning system are substantially less than the chill curing system.
3. Drying rates and corn quality are identical for both methods.
4. Grain conditioning systems have been in operation for many years all over the world while the chill curing system has been on the market for approximately four years and tried in several states.
5. Grain conditioning systems will cost 2¢ to 3¢ per bushel to operate (based on 5¢/KWH) and initial cost approximately 75¢ per bushel installed (based on 40,000 bu. cap.) The chill curing system uses approximately 1½ KWH per bushel which at 5¢ per KWH figures to be 7½¢ per bushel (most LP gas burning dryers do better than that!) Chill curing systems initial costs from all indications are much higher than $1.00 per bushel installed.

If you are interested in a drying system to suit your needs please call us for free estimates. We offer complete service and installation of all types of grain drying and conveying equipment. Our ONLY line of equipment is grain handling and drying equipment. It is a year-round business for us, NOT a side line.

Turnpike drunk arrests down

HARRISBURG – State Police Details patrolling the Pennsylvania Turnpike arrested 129 motorists for "driving under the influence" last year, a decrease of 24 incidences over 1977.

"We're encouraged by this decrease, and we plan to step up surveillance of motorists who drive erratically on the Turnpike," Captain Newton C. Robbins, Troop T Commanding Officer, said.

Workshop slated on farm chemical compatibility

HARRISBURG — The problem of compatibility and separation in fertilizer and pesticide solutions will be addressed here Feb. 15 when representatives of Hopkins Agricultural Chemicals Co. demonstrate how farmers might be able to make more efficient use of such products. The workshop will be held from 9 a.m. to 1:30 p.m. at the Host Inn, just off of Route 283, Harrisburg. The program will include a slide presentation on "What is an Adjuvant?"; Compatability demonstrations, refreshments, a question and answer period, and lunch.

In holding the workshop, the people from Hopkins will attempt to show how their product, Unite, can be used to effectively keep fertilizer and pesticide mixes from separating. The Hopkins firm claims that Unite will work with both wettable powders and emulsifiable concentrates, giving good stability with minimum agitation. The product is reported to be economical to use, with one to three pints being sufficient for 100 gallons of a tank mix. Its use can help maximize the effectiveness of pesticides by helping assure uniform, accurate applications over the field, Hopkins literature claims. The company claims further that their product can save down-time caused by plug-ups and tank clean-outs.

Compatability problems are caused by a number of factors, Hopkins explains. The difference in the chemistry of herbicides, insecticides, fungicides, and various fertilizer solutions cause most of the problems of compatibility, the manufacturer says. This includes the chemistry of carrier and emulsifying ingredients, Hopkins adds.

Other causes of compatibility problems include: 1. Fertilizers of the same analysis may vary from batch to batch; 2. The sequence of adding two or more pesticides, especially a combination of emulsifiable concentrates and wettable powders; 3. Fertilizers high in phosphorus; 4. The temperature of the base tank mix; 5. Variations of pH and specific gravity of different fertilizers; 6. Over agitation of the tank mix, especially the last half of the tank volume.

To find out more about the problem of compatibility and what may be done about it, the makers of Unite urge you attend their Feb. 15 workshop in Harrisburg. Additional information may be obtained by contacting Don Dodson, sales representative, 1638 Glenn Road, Lancaster, phone 717-394-4547.

Pork Council challenges proposed school lunch program

DES MOINES, Iowa - Proposed USDA Food and Nutrition Service changes in the school lunch program in the U.S. has brought comment from Ann Norman, NPPC's director of consumer relations.

"Pork producers, as well as others within the meat industry, should be aware of what the proposed substitute program means, and should make themselves heard," Ms. Norman said. "The proposed changes, if adopted, would allow for a full-scale substitution of meat alternates–dried peas and beans, peanut butter and eggs–in the present school lunch programs. Currently, requirements allow this food group to make up no more than half of the meat/meat alternate requirements in the lunch menus.

"We're asking that our NPPC members contact members of their Congressional delegations to express their concern on the change and that they also submit written comments to the USDA by the February 15 deadline for public comment. These comments are to be sent to: Margaret Glavin, Food and Nutrition Service, USDA, Washington, D.C. 20250.

"An interim test period on the changes ends February 2. As of that date, schools can either continue with the interim test menus which could eliminate the use of any pork, beef, lamb, poultry or fish in the menus or the schools can return to menus planned under the previously used requirements.

MINERAL SUPPLEMENTS

who needs them?
You do!

Quality roughage alone can provide much of the protein and energy needed for milk production But since roughages may lack both balance and quantity of minerals necessary for maximum milk production, bone and muscle development, and the most efficient utilization of other nutrients—many dairymen need a mineral supplement program

How can you tell if you need a mineral supplement program?

Let us make a free analysis of your forage crops We'll give you a report on the nutrient value of your hay, silage, or other roughages, along with recommendations for any supplements--if necessary We won't try to sell you anything you don't need!

Our three mineral mixes—Beacon Phos Min, Beacon Mineral Ade and Beacon Cal-Min—are formulated by highly respected dairy nutrition specialists The supplement they recommend will contain the necessary minerals to make up deficiencies or imbalance in your roughages and to achieve the proper calcium-phosphorus ratio in your total feeding program

You can rest assured that you aren t paying extra for exotic ingredients, high transportation cost, and expensive promotion and sales cost

With BEACON, you get more mineral units per dollar invested.

Mineral supplements, formulated especially for the cow at reasonable cost, are part of what we call "No nonsense feeding"

York Co. Holstein Association elects officers

YORK - Directors of the York County Holstein Association met recently to elect officers and to set up a program of activities for the year.

Thomas Boyer, York, was chosen president, with Rodman Thompson, East Berlin R1, as his vice-president. Secretary-treasurer is Philip Laughman, Thomasville R2, assisted by Robert Smyser, York. Paul King was reelected to the position of the state director from the County, and will serve as chairman of the membership committee.

Heading up the junior activities is Jed Beshore. New Cumberland R1, and Larry Rinehart, East Berlin, will chair the breed improvement committee.

Sales representatives Larry Amspacher, York R7, and Robert Morris, Fawn Grove R1, are taking consignments for the state calf sale, scheduled to be held Wednesday, April 11, at the Farm Show building in Harrisburg.

Highlight of the County's Spring activities will be the first Adams-York calf sale, set for Thursday evening, March 29 at the Avalong Farms horse arena, just off the Route 30 bypass.

A barn meeting is also planned for mid-March at the Robert and Michael Stewart farm, Airville R1, with a program on registered Holstein classification. County breeders will classify this year beginning in June.

A bus trip to Chester County is being arranged for April 4. Stops will include a tour of the large animal hospital facilities at New Bolton Center and the operations of two Holstein dairy farms.

Other tentative activities set are a July field day at the Sinking Springs farm and the annual banquet and meeting in October.

Urban legislator is concerned with ag issues

By JOYCE BUPP
Staff Correspondent

YORK - Members of the York County Farmers' Association have been participating in a statewide effort to contact their area legislators on farm policies prior to the opening of the upcoming Harrisburg session.

Legislator Stanford "Bud" Lehr, represents the 95th district, which encompasses York City. The lone farmer in Lehr's district recently moved his operation to a rural area of the County, leaving the 95th district without a single farm vote. Nevertheless, the urban legislator is genuinely concerned about some crucial issues facing Pennsylvania farmers.

As a former West York retail grocer, Lehr has a background and understanding of basic supply-demand problems in the food industry.

"Farmers work so hard to produce and get so doggone little by the comparison in return," Lehr worries "Then, something like a hail storm might wipe out years of work in just a half-hour's time."

With his many years of retailing experience, Lehr asserts that the biggest markup on food costs comes from the broker, who, he says, often never even sees or handles the commodities. He advocates a marketing system with less middleman handlers of food products to cut down on the price add-ons at every distribution level.

Rep. Stanford "Bud" Lehr, right, of the 95th district, meets with York County Farmers Association president Charles Rauhauser during a series of legislator contacts.

The grocer-turned-lawmaker believes that fresh fruits and vegetables are probably handed the largest percentage markup, which helps to cover lower profit margins on slower-turnover stocks. Non-food sales, such as cosmetics and drugs, also return a higher profit percentage than many food items

A member of the Mines and Energy Committee, Lehr questioned the York area farmers who contacted him as to whether agriculture will have sufficient energy resources, should a supply crisis develop.

With coal a major state resource, he advocates the easing of environmental regulations to more fully utilize the vast deposits of the solid black fuel for energy needs; and Lehr considers coal a "boon" to Pennsylvania.

Regulations in general bother him and Lehr says they've made it especially tough on small independent business people.

"It used to be a pleasure to be in business for yourself, but no longer," he said, with a frustrated shake of his head.

With the legislative session about to begin, Lehr sees land preservation, in some form, as the prime agriculture issue to come before the lawmakers. He admits that it's a serious issue, with far too much

Seed production evaluated

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Production of alfalfa seed in 1978 is estimated at 87.2 million pounds (39.5 thousand metric tons), down nine per cent from last year, according Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Committee (ASCS). Most of the decline occurred in California, the major alfalfa producing state. The U. S. farm value of alfalfa seed production is estimated at $100 million, compared with $103 million in 1977. Average price per 100 pounds was $115.00, an increase of $7.00 from last year.

Red Clover seed production totaled 31.3 million pounds (14.2 thousand metric tons), up 26 per cent from the 1977 crop which was the smallest crop since records began in 1919. The increase resulted from higher yields and an increase in harvested acres in most producing states. Production of Kentucky Bluegrass seed for all varieties is considerably above the small 1977 crop. Proprietary varieties including merion are estimated at 14.3 million pounds (6500 metric tons), up 94 per cent from last year. Public and common varieties of Kentucky bluegrass are estimated at 25.6 million pounds (11.6 thousand metric tons), an increase of 124 per cent from a year earlier. Acreage harvested and yields in Washington were more than threefold the poor yielding 1977 crop.

Production of Tall Fescue seed in 1978 increased to 159 million pounds (72.3 thousand metric tons), 48 per cent above a year earlier. Missouri, the largest producing state, increased production by 46 per cent.

Annual Ryegrass seed production in Oregon is estimated at 200 million pounds (90.8 thousand metric tons), down 13 per cent from 1977. Perennial Ryegrass production is estimated at 40.9 million pounds (18.5 thousand metric tons), a three per cent increase from last year.

Timothy seed production is estimated at 17.0 million pounds (7730 metric tons), up 52 per cent from last year's crop for comparable states.

Urban Legislator

acreage going into development; and some plan must be devised to save the farmland resources for future generations.

One of the legislator's most pressing concerns is for the plight of the elderly, urban and rural.

"I've had people who cried to me on the phone; people on social security asking how they can make ends meet and eat three meals a day," Lehr recalls.

Pennsylvania's state lottery, earmarked from the beginning to assist senior citizens, is where Lehr hopes that help can be found. Some profits from the state-run games have already been returned to the elderly through rent rebates. Lehr would like to see a similar program set up to help subsidize high drug costs for the elderly on limited income.
